PARIS REJECTS CITY'S CLAIMS IN FINAL APPROVAL OF SALE OF U. R.

St. Louis Four Months to Decide Whether It Will Accept Offer to Settle Mill Tax.

THIS IS $810,622 CASH
FOR $2,431,867 DUE

Alternative $1,621,244 in Stock — Judge Scoffs at Idea of Return to 5-Cent Rate.

Federal Judge Paris today approved the sale of the United Railways to the reorganization committee for $48,101,000, and gave the city four months to elect whether it would settle its mill tax judgment against the company by accepting the reorganizers' offer, or whether the obligation in cash, or an alternative offer of two-thirds in preferred stock of the new corporation.

The judgment is for $2,396,321.95,
and the interest allowed by Judge Paris, up to the date of the receivership in 1919, is $335,445.49, making the full amount $2,431,867.41.
Under Judge Paris' decision the city can take one-third of the cash amount, $810,622.47 cash, or twice that value, $1,621,244.94, in preferred stock. Lawyers hold that the city, under its charter, cannot take stock in a private corporation,
there may be limited to the cash offer.

Calls Offer Fair.
Judge Paris declared the offer
of the city, of one-third its claim in cash or two-thirds in stock, to be fair one, when compared with the settlement made with common stockholders of the old company.
He figured that the preferred
stockholders of the old company
received the reorganization committee, will get $21.75 for each $100
of their claims, and that the holders of the $24,913,000 common stock of the old company will get cents on the $100. In comparison with this, he held that the offer of $21.75 cash, or twice the amount in stock, to the city, was fair.

Rejects City's Claims.
He dismissed the attorney of the city's counsel, in a brief filed Monday, to show that the city would be unfairly, on the basis of possible returns of the stock.
The estimate he said, were hypothetical, and the courts can consider only the comparable fairness of the offer on the basis present facts.

Judge Paris discussed the mill tax and the reason for increasing it from 5 to 7 cents, and said that recently to 7 1/2 and 8 cents
was a member of the State Supreme Court. Judge Paris once gave a decision against the validity
of the mill tax ordinance.
Much of the trouble of the United Railways, Judge Paris said, had been due to over-taxation. He listed the forms of taxation to which the United Railways Co. is subjected, saying that no other corporation or individual in Missouri is subjected to such tax burdens. The taxes enumerated were the mill tax,
general property tax, income tax,
excise tax and cost of paving streets.

Five-Cent Fare "Nonsense."
While fare increases have been 5 per cent, and recently more,
Judge Paris found from the reorganizers' report and other sources of information that the increase in the same period had been 11 per cent. The same increase, he said, have taken place in the costs of all other business-ness, he added, the newspapers which have increased their sale price 100 per cent (from 1 cent to 10 cents a copy).

Rejection of these facts. Judge Paris said, "any suggestion of return to 5-cent street car fare is not a respectable nonsense."
He discussed the allegation, made by the city, that the sale price of the property, which was put up at $4,000,000, was at least $4,000,000
too low. He said it was true that the amount of the bid was $4,000,000 less than the total amount of indebtedness of the company. But he added that the company has been driven to recognize that colossal corporations, including millions of dollars, cannot be sold at a price to the secured creditors except to a reorganization committee.
Looks for Cut in Overhead.
Judge Paris said that under provisions made in the plan of reorganization on Page 3, Column 2.

BULK OF $30,000,000 ESTATE
LEFT TO SIX RELATIVES

A. T. Walker, Heir to Fortune of
E. F. Scaries, Also Bequeathed
$200,000 to Secretary.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The will of Arthur T. Walker, heir to the fortune of Edward F. Scaries, Methuen, Mass., reclusive, for whom he was secretary, leaves the bulk of his $30,000,000 estate to the six sisters and two brothers.
The will, which was filed in Brooklyn today, also provided a $200,000 bequest to Walker's secretary, E. E.
Rudd.

Walker, formerly a resident of Brooklyn, began life as an impecunious private in Brooklyn.
Scaries raised him to affluence.
Scaries had inherited the fortune of the widow of Mark Hopkins, multi-millionaire railroad
pioneer and California pioneer.

POMERENE SAILS FOR EUROPE
TO FIND 2 OIL SUIT WITNESSES

Teapot Dome Award Already Has Netted U. S. $6,000,000, Government Counsel Says.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Alfred Pomerene, counsel for the Government in the Sinclair-Pull conspiracy trial, was bound for Europe
today hopeful of effecting the return of two witnesses who have been sought since the start of the Teapot Dome investigation.

Before sailing at midnight with Mrs. Pomerene, the former Ohio Senator said the Government
probably would use a new law, permitting United States Consuls to serve subpoenas in foreign countries, to summon Harry M. Blackmer, former chairman of the Board of the Midwest Refining Co., and James E. O'Neill, former president of the Prairie Oil and Gas Co., back to the United States.

Failure to obey summons, Pomer-ene said, makes the witness liable to a $5,000 fine. The oil litigation already has netted the Government, Pomerene asserted,
from $6,000,000 to $7,000,000 from the California Naval Reserve, formerly held by the Doheny interests. He added $10,000,000 is yet to be paid for oil taken from the reserve during the Doheny tenancy.

Goller Sends 75 Cts. for Divots.

BOSTON, Aug. 15.—A golfer whose conscience has troubled him
has sent 75 cents to Boston's conscience fund for some divots. He explained that while trying to make a long drive on the municipal links he succeeded only in digging up the turf, and finally quitting in rage. Later he remembered he had not replaced the divots.

ARMOUR WORRIED SELF TO DEATH, FRIENDS DECLARE

Grain Scandal Called Final Blow to Chicago Packer, Who Saw Fortune of $100,000,000 Dwindle.

TAXABLE IN 1925

Fortune Hard Hit During War—Disposed of Other Stocks in Effort to Save Packing Firm He Headed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—J. Ogden
Armour, former head of Armour & Co., one of country's largest packing firms, died in the Carlton Hotel in London yesterday. Dispatches from England to his family said
his heart had become weakened by pneumonia and an earlier attack of typhoid fever.

His friends here—men who have watched the shrinkage of the Armour fortune in recent years, followed by the recent grain scandal—
assert that he actually was worried to death. It has been estimated that since 1918 he has lost $100,000,000. Armour's holdings had so dwindled that in 1925 the Federal Revenue Office found his income not taxable.

When Philip D. Armour died 25 years ago, he was rated as to fortune in the same class with Marshall Field. The big packer was placed in the $100,000,000 class.
The public held no part in his estate except an issue of 4 1/2 per cent bonds.

J. Ogden Armour had been involved into all departments of the business by his father. He was an only son, his brother, Philip D.
Armour Jr., dying a short time before his father.

Fight With Government Costly.
Under J. Ogden Armour the business expanded. Then came a long and expensive fight with the Government. It was charged that a "meat trust" existed. Restrictions were enforced. Armour was compelled to sell a number of subsidiaries manufacturing other foods
than meat.

Packing ventures in the Argentine were not a success. England seized many millions of supplies
destined for neutral countries during the war. Settlements have been under negotiation for seven years.
Then came 1920 and 1921. The smash in inventories all but ruined Armour & Co. The ruin would have been complete had not a syndicate of bankers stepped in and taken charge of the company.

In the boom of 1920 hogs and cattle were at their highest, 14
cents a pound; in the slump of 1921
at their lowest, 7 cents a pound.
Armour & Co. was caught for untold millions in losses.

The Chemical National Bank in New York and the Continental and Commercial here reorganized the company.

Sold Holdings at a Loss.
Armour sold all but a small amount of his personal property to help in the rehabilitation. He lost millions in the sale of 50,000 shares of St. Paul Railway stock which cost him $1,000,000. He also sold the railroad, close to par. Armour sold all his stock holdings in Chicago
banks, estimated at $10,000,000.
The same bank stocks are today
from $100 to $500 a share higher than the figure at Armour's obtainment.

He sold a part of his great estate in Lake Forest, Ill., founded the Armour Institute, the most noted technical school in the West and the pride of his father, over to Northwestern University.

His common stock in the packing company was sold to the public and more than $200,000,000
new capital was raised. The bankers organized Armour & Co. of Delaware with $125,000,000 in bonds
and preferred stocks. The Morris Packing Co. was taken over. All these stocks and bonds were de-valued much in value since their flotation.

There are five Armour plants
south of the equator, 15 in the United States and one in Canada.
There also are approximately 40 branches in the United States to facilitate distribution.

Grain Scandal Final Blow.
Recently came the final blow to Armour—the scandal in the Armour Grain Co. The company was compelled to restore $3,000,000 obtained in fraudulent grading of wheat delivered to the Grain Marketing Corporation. Two of his managers had been found guilty.
Armour had nothing to do with the grain business, of which his nephews were in charge. He was so humiliated that he sold out the grain company.

With these losses the estate is problematical. Mrs. Lolita Mitchell,

KIEL WILL SEEK FOURTH TERM AS MAYOR IN 1929

He Has Made No Public Statement, but Friends
Have Been Informed of His Decision.

HELD THE OFFICE
FROM 1913 TO 1925

Miller Told by Supporters
His One Chance for Re-election Is to Do Something for Rapid Transit.

Henry W. Kiel, three-term former Mayor, has decided definitely to run for Mayor again in the spring of 1929.

Kiel, who was Mayor from 1913
to 1925, and who voluntarily and cannily kept out of the running in the latter year, has informed his friends of his plans, though making no statement for publication
thus far. Lines are being laid in his interest in the Republican City Committee and elsewhere.

He has a year and a half for his campaign. The movement to recall Mayor Miller, a movement with which Kiel never connected himself, collapsed last winter, so that the present Mayor will serve out his 4-year term.

Kiel's not over-successful venture in state politics, as chairman of the Republican State Committee, has helped to convince him that his place is in the city, as a seeker
of votes for himself, not for others.
The presidential and State election
a year from next November, will require Kiel to move carefully, but he has been through similar situations without alienating any large part of his local support.

3-TON STEEL GIRDER FALLS INTO STREET; NO ONE INJURED
Huge Beam Slips From Hoist at Top of New Missouri Pacific Building.

Dropping from a sling hoist
when a cable parted, a three-ton steel girder fell 150 feet from the top of the new Missouri Pacific building at 3:20 p. m. today and crashed into the street, about 10 feet east of the intersection of Thirteenth and Pine streets.

Fortunately, the street, which normally carries a fast automobile and street car traffic during the afternoon, was deserted. The girder, 22 feet long, fell in a flat position with one end on the car tracks and the other in a dynamo shed on the curb.

William Pfeiffer, of 6729 Scanlon avenue, engineer in charge of the dynamo shed, escaped injury
when he arose from a bench on which he had been sitting just as the beam broke away above him.
"I just decided to get up and walk around," he said. "I hadn't gone three feet when I heard a terrific crash and felt the force of the beam's fall. It flattened out the bench where I had been sitting."

late to make the start. If weather conditions are favorable the projected flight will be made to-

The projected course of the plane will be by way of St. John's,

NORTHERN CHINESE ARMY REPORTED SHELLING NANKING

British Leaving City for Southern Army.

By the Associated Press.
SHANGHAI, China, Aug. 17.—
The American marines here were confined to their quarters tonight
in preparation for a possible emergency as the result of the suddenly increased tension between the British and Chinese, arising out of the seizure of the wings of a British airplane by the Chinese authorities yesterday.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 17.—Northern Chinese forces this morning captured Pukow, Reuter's reports, and this afternoon were bombarding
Nanking across the Yangtze.
British subjects were evacuating
Nanking to British war vessels lying along the south bank of "the river."

The Exchange Telegraph's Shanghai correspondent, forwarding a similar report, adds:
"Five broken columns are fleeing toward Shanghai, where volunteers have been mobilized. The Shanghai force has occupied the defences, rebuilt the barriers and cut the railway. It is rumored that the Cantonese are attempting a similar coup at Hankow."

Southern reverses have been reported steadily within the last few weeks. Nanking was captured by the Southerners early this year in their great drive of the lower Yangtze valley which culminated in the capture of Shanghai.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—There is not the slightest doubt about President Coolidge being out of the presidential race, Secretary Work asserted today upon his return from the West, where he conferred with the President.

"Anybody who has seen him will have no doubt about his position," he added. "The President meant what he said. He has signed off and is as happy as a boy out of Secretary Work declined to pre-

By the Associated Press.
WHEELER FIELD, Honolulu,
Aug. 17.—The mono-lane Woolaroc, piloted by Art Goebel, Hollywood, Cal., stunt flyer, landed here
at 7 p. m. today (Honolulu time), (4:53 St. Louis time), winning first prize of $25,000 in the Hilo air race. Lieut. W. V. Davis,
San Diego, was the navigator.

The Army signal corps reported that the Woolaroc passed over Honolulu at 12:09 p. m. (4:59 St. Louis coast time).

At the same time the Navy reported the Aloha, passing over Koko head (southwestern tip of Oahu).

Naval radio headquarters here
received the following message
from the Woolaroc shortly before it landed: "Will be in 14 gas holds out. We are between Molokai and Diamond Head." This was shortly after 12 o'clock Honolulu time.
(4:20 St. Louis time.)

By the Associated Press.
WHEELER FIELD, Honolulu,
Aug. 17.—The Army signal corps
at 11 o'clock this morning 3:50 p.
m., St. Louis time) intercepted a radio message from the Hilo Tribune, saying that the Aloha passed over Hilo at 10:50 a. m. (3:20 p.
m. St. Louis time). Hilo is 190 miles southeast of Honolulu.

The report from Hilo could not be confirmed, despite the efforts of the signal corps, which intercepted the message, to do so.

At 9:30 a. m. (2 p. m. St. Louis time), radio reports from the Woolaroc, received by the Mutual Telephone Co. and reports from steamships gave the position of the plane
at about 200 miles from Honolulu.

Four radio equipped navy planes took off at 10:40 a. m. in an effort to establish contact with the Dol-lo flight entrants. Lieutenant-Commander M. B. McCorm, in command, had orders to return at 11:45 a. m. if they failed to locate the plane. The squadron headed toward the island of Maui.

Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation, of which Gary was organizer and chairman of the board, and Nathan L. Miller, former Governor of New York and counsel for the Steel Corporation.

The widow, heavily veiled, was assisted from the train by George K. Leet, secretary of the Steel Corporation, and was met by her stepdaughters, Mrs. Robert W. Campbell and Mrs. Gertrude Sutcliffe, both of Chicago.

The casket was in the last car of the special section of the train. Railroad detectives and attendants closely guarded the rear car, preventing all persons from approaching until the casket had been removed to a hearse and started for Wheaton, Ill., a suburb.

There in the Gary Memorial Church, a stone edifice Gary had given to the Methodist Episcopal congregation of which he was a member, the body was to lie in state from 2 p. m. to 7 p. m.

The funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow in the church, with Bishop F. D. Leets of Indianapolis, the Rev. J. T. Ladd of Elgin, former pastor of the church, and the Rev. A. H. Penne- well, the present pastor, participating in the services. The church choir and a special quartet will sing.

The burial will take place in the stone mausoleum Gary had built in the Wheaton cemetery and where repose the bodies of his parents and his first wife.

It was the steel chieftain's expressed wish that his friends should last see him in the church in the town near which he was born and where he had sat as Judge of Du Page County.

Eugene J. Buffington, president of the Illinois Steel Co., long-time personal friend and close associate of Gary, and other street and industrial chiefs, were at the station to pay their tribute.

Gary's Successor Will Not Be Chosen Until Fall.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Selection of a new chairman of the United States Steel Corporation to succeed Elbert H. Gary, who died early Monday, will not be undertaken until fall, it was authoritatively stated.

J. P. Morgan, who, with Gary and George F. Baker, made up the triumvirate generally regarded as dominating the policies of the company, is in Scotland and is not expected to hurry home because of his friend's death. Other directors, including Myron C. Taylor, also are in Europe.

Persons familiar with the affairs of the vast corporation—an enterprise with 300,000 employees and properties in excess of $2,000,000,000—pointed out there is no need for haste in electing a chairman. Gary, an extraordinary harmonizer of conflicting interests, succeeded long before his death in building it into a smoothly running business machine.

His duties can be carried on indefinitely by James A. Farrell, president, Farrell, a technical steel man, will undoubtedly remain in his present place, but probably will preside at weekly meetings of the Finance Committee and will retain closer touch than heretofore with the directors whose advice carries greatest weight.

TANK CONTAINING WHISKY
FOUND UNDER SALOON FLOOR
Discovery Made After Spigot Is Found Under Step at 1533 Olive Street.

A bright and clean tread on a step leading from the saloon operated by Christ Zoes at 1533 Olive street, to an adjoining room, was in marked contrast to the worn boards about it, and detectives who visited the place yesterday with a search warrant finally found a loose nail, which, when removed, revealed a small spigot from which they drew a quart of whisky.

Zoes declared he had acquired the saloon but recently and knew nothing of the hidden spigot or the source from which it was fed. The detectives then attacked the floor of the adjoining room with axes, and in a far corner found a six-gallon copper tank between the floor boards and joists. A pipe led to the spigot. Zoes was arrested.

VARE AND WILSON TO ASK COURT TO IMPOUND BALLOTS

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—An appeal by the contestants themselves to the Common Pleas Court of Pennsylvania to impound the ballots cast in the Senatorial election of 1926 was decided on here today at a conference in which William B. Wilson, the Democratic contestant, and representatives of Senator-elect Vare participated.

NICARAGUAN TOWN PILLAGED

By the Associated Press.
MANAGUA, Aug. 17.—Gen. Jose Ramon Tellez, political chief of the department of Nueva Segovia, reported today the bandit leader, Gen. Carlos Salgado, with his followers, looted the village of Somoto of merchandise and money. One civilian, Federico Valesquez, was killed and several were injured. Gen. Salgado, with 50 followers, has been operating in the north-west departments of Nicaragua since the defeat of the former liberal Gen. Sandino at the hands of United States Marines and white constabulary.

GERMANS TO ATTEMPT NEW ATLANTIC FLIGHT

Second Take-Off, However,
Will Not Be Precipitate, Junkers Official Says.

By the Associated Press.
DESSAU, Germany, Aug. 17.—The Junkers firm, undaunted by the first failure, does not intend to abandon the idea of a trans-Atlantic flight, it was authoritatively stated today, but will not undertake another precipitately nor attempt to create any records.

Junkers officials refute statements in the German press to the effect that Sunday's flight was undertaken in the face of adverse weather reports. On the contrary, they state, the Hamburg Weather Bureau had notified them conditions were favorable on the northern route, by way of the Orkneys. The flyers were unable to reach the fair weather zone owing to unfavorable conditions over the North Sea.

Members of the technical staff of the Junkers works again today conferred with pilots of the Europa and Bremen, but the conversations were confined to surveying scientific data adduced by the brief flight. No understanding has been reached with the German "air pool" which comprises underwriters who assumed the insurance risk in connection with the flight.

The attitude of the underwriters in regard to applying first policies to second flights will probably have an important bearing on developments. The issue involves a heavy financial item and may decide Junkers future plans. The Junkers concern carried 220,000 marks (about $50,000) insurance on the flyers' lives and the plane. Directors of the firm have been informed that this insurance had lapsed, inasmuch as the flight was actually started. They say, however, the company is not able to pay another such premium. Financial backing will be sought from other sources.

Blames Congress for De-

UNDECIDED ON WOOD'S SUCCESSOR

General Pershing Arrives
at Summer White House
in Black Hills for Short Visit With President.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
RAPID CITY, S. D., Aug. 17.— President Coolidge will seek at least two more 10,000-ton cruisers
from the next Congress, making 10
in all.

The President believes the last Congress should have authorized that many. He indicated yesterday that he took this position when Congress was considering the naval program and that at that time he had suggested to Chairman
Thomas F. Butler of the House Naval Affairs Committee that such a course be followed.

That the President took such a stand was not generally known at the time. It was understood he was opposed to cruiser authorization by the last Congress when an appropriation was made to begin construction of three of the eight it was prepared to build. He opposed the appropriation for three ships.

President Coolidge considers that Congress, by failing to follow his suggestion, has delayed the naval building program. Had the full 10 been authorized it would have been possible to include appropriations for their construction in the budget
now being prepared. Two of the eight cruisers are under construction already and the six others are under contract.

Tax Cut Problematical.
The President also believes the last Congress should have cut taxes
as he requested. While hopeful that the next Congress will do so, President Coolidge concedes tax reduction is problematical. It is evident there will be some of it, but a surplus this year and, if it were left to him to decide, he would make a reduction. Congress, however, always wants to spend money,
he feels, and the amount of tax reduction will be governed by the extent to which Federal expenditures are held down.

Budget Director Lord, in his conference with the President last week, estimated the surplus at $125,000,000. Two of the eight largely wiped out should business
slump a little during the winter.

President Coolidge has not yet decided upon a successor to Leonard Wood as Governor-General of the Philippines and probably will not do so for some time. He has been informed by the War Department that there is no need of haste
as Eugene A. Gilmore, Vice Governor, is capable of administering the islands.

Amused at Steel Job Rumors.
Still talking definitely with regard to his leaving office on March 4, 1929, President Coolidge denied there was any possibility of his becoming either President of Amherst College or chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation.

Reports that he would take either one of these positions impeared to amuse the President. His college, he said, had recently chosen a capable young president
and he "doubted" if the trustees
would care to make the change.

He remarked he would still be President of the United States a year and a half more, which would prevent his taking the steel job
even if they thought it desirable,
since he was sure the steel corporation would not go along without a head.

Gen. Pershing arrived at the summer White House yesterday for a short visit with the President.
He had not seen the President
since he left for France early in the spring in connection with the Battle Monument Association's work there.

1927 WEATHER NOT MARKEDLY ABNORMAL, U. S. BUREAU SAYS

Floods Prevented Early Planting
but Crop Condition Is Within 1 Pct. of Average.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The Weather Bureau, in a special summary of conditions for 1927 to date, declared today that aside from the continued spring rains and floods in the interior, which prevented the planting of corn and other spring crops at the usual time and was unfavorable for winter grains in some sections, the weather in general has "by no means been markedly abnormal."

"In fact," the review says, "it has been mostly characterized by an unusual abundance of moisture,
an absence of widespread damaging droughts and comparatively uniform temperatures."

Declaring crop conditions afford a good indicator of a season's weather, the report says that with exceptions, crops at the close of July "were making satisfactory advance and in general showed better prospects than at the same time last year."

PLANE "SPIRIT OF UNREST"

MacNider Christens Ship in Which He Hopped About U. S.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—

Prompted by the fact that he covered 11,905 miles by air on summer camp inspection tours, making 48 separate hops, during the month of July with the same machine and pilot, Hanford MacNid-er, Assistant Secretary of War, has christened the observation plane

he used "The Spirit of Unrest."

MacNider started from Washington July 4 with Capt. R. G. Ervin of the Army Air Corps as pilot and finished his trip here Aug. 6.

During 39 flying days the pair spent 103 hours 35 minutes in the air. They went as far West as Spokane, Wash.

BRENTWOOD MARSHAL
RESIGNS IN FEE ROW

Action Regarded as Step to Rid Town of Deputies Who Defied Board.

Hope was held after last night's meeting of the Board of Trustees of Brentwood that a way had been found to rid the town of its nine deputy marshals who have refused to comply with the demand of the trustees that they resign
and turn in their badges. City Marshal F. J. Bryant tendered his resignation last night and it was expected out that the new marshal would be empowered to appoint his own staff of deputies and outside the others, the leader of whom is William Sisco, convicted of shooting a Washington University student.

The legality of the appointment of Bryant and other officers was questioned by Edward Burke, Police Commissioner, at a previous meeting when he called attention to the fact that the appointments had not been in accordance with the law.

The same of George Moeller, a former marshal, was placed in nomination last night to fill the vacancy left by Bryant. Other nominations are expected at next week's meeting.

The fee system under which the deputy marshals, police judge and other officials share in fines collected from motorists, remained an object of controversy at the meeting. Burke's plan to substitute two salaried police officers for the 19 marshals was opposed by Mayor Withrow, who as ex-officio police judge shares in the fee, but seemed to have the support of a majority of the 50 citizens present. Withrow said he believed six policemen would be needed and the town could not afford to pay their salaries.

ADMITS HE WROTE WORTHLESS CHECKS

Melvin Teninty, 20, Formerly of Detroit, Expected Father
to Make Amount Good.

Melville Teninty, 20 years old, who says his father is a millionaire curtain and shade manufacturer of Detroit, is under arrest while police check up on $1355 in checks which he has passed in St. Louis in the week he has been here. With his wife and 2-year-old son, Teninty has been rooming at 1740A Missouri avenue, where he was arrested yesterday. He was employed in a box factory at $45 a week.

Teninty says he was graduated from Cass Technical School in Detroit at the age of 13 and after attending Detroit University entered the curtain business for himself. Business was good at first, but changed and he sold out. He left home after quarrels with his younger but bigger brother.

He presented checks for $1355 at the South Side Buick Automobile Co. in payment for a used Packard sedan, and checks totaling $35 at three stores. He admitted he did not have $1355 to his credit at the Detroit bank on which the checks were drawn, but expected the bank to notify his father and the father would make the checks good. Until the checks were honored, he was not to receive the automobile—and he has not.

Boy, 4, Injured Playing Ball. Gordon Smith, 4 years old, suffered contusions of the scalp yesterday when accidentally struck with a baseball bat by a playmate. He was treated at City Hospital and later taken to his home at 1301 Allen avenue.

RHEUMATISM
now treated
a new way.

Stops pain by removing the cause. No opiates. No distasteful drugs. No dieting.

A new and more effective way to treat Rheumatism is now reported. An astonishing simple method that is said to give almost immediate relief from this old ailment and its near kin, Lumbago, Gout and Neuritis. The treatment originated in one of the exclusive health retreats of Europe, now celebrated for its success in Rheumatic cases. In accord with advanced medical thought, which opposes drugging the body, full use is made of Nature's constant effort to heal. And so simple and necessary a thing as one's drinking water forms a large part of the treatment. Certain substances the body lacks are supplied in a vegetable extract which is dropped into the water several times a day. As a result Uric Acid crystals and other poisons causing the pain become liquid and flush from the body. Relief is almost immediate. Usually the first day. Medical observers attribute this to the naturalness of the treatment; and its harmony with bodily processes.

Defies Age by Using Ordinary Buttermilk to Beautify Complexion

Tells Walgreen Drug Stores Not to Take Anyone's Money Unless This Delightful New Vanishing Cream Shows a Decided Improvement.

Big Demand for New Package Amazes Druggists.

Buttermilk Cream creates beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that while it turns the dull, most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its use after application. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness of the eyes, freckles, crow's feet or lines around the mouth, ugly finger nails or just a simple roughness of the face, hands or arms caused by wind or sun, you will find that any or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Howard's Buttermilk Cream.

IMPORTANT: Even the finest face creams fail if the soap you use is harsh. Howard's Buttermilk Soap keeps skin smooth, soft and pliable.

U. S. AIR PILOTS BREAK 3 RECORDS IN ONE FLIGHT

Lieuts. Connell and Rodd
Set New Marks for Distance, Duration and Speed at San Diego, Cal.

By the Associated Press.
SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 17.—Two world flight records for distance and duration, held by Fritz Looze, German aviator, were smashed and one world's speed record for 2000 kilometers was established, yesterday by Lieut. Byron Connell and Herbert C. Rodd, air craft squadrons, battle fleet. The naval flyers made a spectacular 20-hour flight that began at 2:02 p. m., Monday and ended at 10:48 a. m. yesterday.

The huge P. N. 19 type seaplane in which Connell and Rodd, with Aviation Machinist Mate Comar Vincent, circled the 25-kilometer triangular course 101 times, weighed at the time of take off, approximately 11 tons. It carried 1102.21 pounds of sand, 1222 gallons of gasoline and 120 gallons of lubricating oil. Not a gallon of fuel was left in the tanks when the plane came down with a "dead stick" at the conclusion of the world record flight.

Two Records Held by German. Lieuts. Connell and Rodd smashed the former world record for Class C-2 seaplanes carrying 500 kilograms dead weight and returning to point of departure without refueling established by Looze March 29, 1927. Looze flew 1702.68 kilometers (about 1057 miles) in 14 hours, 8 minutes, 2 seconds.

Connell and Rodd smashed both records held by the German aviator. Their official time was 20 hours 45 minutes and 40 seconds, eclipsing the German record by more than six hours.

The Navy aviators covered 2525.213 kilometers or about 1568 miles, beating the German record by 823 kilometers.

Average 78.56 Miles An Hour. Connell and Rodd set a new world speed record for this distance with a seaplane carrying 500 kilograms of deadweight. The official time for the 2000 kilometers (or about 1200 miles) was 15 hours, 45 minutes and 13 seconds. The speed was 78.56 miles an hour.

The Federation Aeronautique Internationale and the National Aeronautic Association will be asked to award to Connell and Rodd the world speed record of Lieut. Frank Wead and J. D. Price, who, on July 11-12, 1924, in a C-2 seaplane powered with a 585-horsepower Wright engine, covered 1600 kilometers or 994.19 miles. No pay load was carried on this flight.

URGES LABELS ON ALL CITIES

Secretary Hoover Seeks Aid of States to Guide Aviators.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Secretary Hoover has asked all States to assist in labelling every city in the country as guides to aviators. "It has been brought to my attention that painting of the city's name on the highest buildings of the respective towns in your State would be a distinct advantage and of great assistance to both military and commercial air pilots," the Secretary said in a letter to each of the Governors. He suggested that Chambers of Commerce and business organizations unite in the campaign.

Anti-Saloon League Holds That Only Candidates Favorable to Enforcement Will Be Nominated.

"ASSUMES" ONLY DRY WILL BE NAMED

Declare, However, That League Will Do All in Its Power to Defeat Wet Nominee.

By the Associated Press.
WINONA LAKE, Ind., Aug. 17.—Directors of the Anti-Saloon League have decided against asking the Republican and Democratic parties to include prohibition law enforcement planks in their platforms.

The directors, who discussed league affairs for 16 hours yesterday, took the view that no political party would nominate for President a man who could not be relied upon to keep his oath of office to uphold the Constitution of the United States and to enforce its laws.

E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League, explained the contempt of court case which recently resulted in his being sentenced to 60 days' imprisonment. Criticism of court actions in liquor cases led to the charges upon which Shumaker was sentenced.

The directors, after listening to him, adopted a resolution expressing the belief "that it should be the recognized right and privilege of citizens to offer constructive criticism of the acts of all public servants and agencies of Government." The resolution deplored "any attempt to prevent the exercise of this right or to stifle free speech."

Declaration of Principle.

The league's views as they affect the forthcoming political situation, were outlined in the following "declaration of principles": "The American people have settled the liquor question in the most emphatic, thorough-going and permanent way open to them, namely, by placing in the Federal Constitution with the largest majority ever given a Federal constitutional amendment, an amendment prohibiting the manufacture, sale, transportation, importation and exportation of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes. Congress has interpreted the will of the people as thus expressed by passing an act to make effective this amendment and by providing for its enforcement. The Supreme Court of the United States has passed favorably upon the constitutionality of the several steps taken by the people and by Congress.

"We assume that no political party which stands for the American form of constitutional government and for government by law will bid for the votes of the American people on any other basis than that of respect for and loyalty to the laws of the land, both constitutional and statutory. We shall take it to be the policy of all parties, if and when placed in power, to stand for the enforcement of the prohibition laws as of other laws.

Every Woman; an in Her Place

and some should be business both.

From a healthy, happy young business woman I am a nervous and physical wreck, haunted by the fear of a breakdown. Some day I believe all this will be changed. Women are breaking the shackles and dare to choose their lives. I find too many of your writers seem to feel that if only they had chosen the other path they would be perfectly happy. This is false. We may know on which side lies our greatest chance for health and happiness but with either choice there will be some difficulties and disappointments. But let your natural fitness decide. There will be enough women who love the home life to carry on the important business of bringing little lives in this world to replenish the stock, and when only those who love it and are fitted for this great task are the home makers, then fewer but better babies will be born and greater happiness will be their heritage.

But why can't women be tolerant? Why can't you choose your life carefully and wisely and let your sisters have the same privilege? Do men haggle over what each others' duties are? No. Then let us go our own individual way without criticism of our sisters' lives.

HAS BEEN BOTH.

As Sonny Sees It

He cannot understand why parents punish their children for telling a fib and they don't tell the truth themselves.

Parents and teachers show poor sense when they make a child obey just to show their authority. It just makes a kid want to disobey and most of them do.

It is easy for children to learn to wait upon themselves and it is foolish for mothers not to train them to do it.

Children need companions, and mothers let their children bring their companions in their home it will be better all around.

MARGOT ASQUITH PREACHES ON MARRIAGE, FASHION AND HEALTH

In Her New Book, "Which She Calls 'Lay Sermons.'" She Talks on Topics of Universal Human Appeal and Also Has Quite a Bit to Say About Margot Asquith.

WHEN Margot Asquith, wife of former Prime Minister and perhaps the wittiest, most admired, most criticized, most challenging woman in English society, first published her autobiography, she shocked some, but amused and interested many others.

Now from the pen of the Countess of Oxford and Asquith comes another book in which, again, she writes herself, gives us, that is to say, a highly personal account of her life and opinions, instead of the outward facts of her life described in the autobiography.

The philosophy of Margot Asquith is the real theme of her new book, "Lay Sermons," and its most interesting statements are to be found in the "sermons" on marriage, fashion and health. Here are some of the things she has to say about these topics of universal human appeal:

MARRIAGE: "It is a comforting idea to think that marriages are made in heaven, and while not going quite as far as that I am inclined to think that with an open mind and after long observation—that there are more marriages that have turned out well than otherwise. Perfect success is rare; partial failures are to be seen; but complete fiascos are very rare because they are so far from the truth.

"Bachelors and spinsters will always remain amateurs. They may have been granted a high or low form of love, but they have been denied one of the greatest of all human experiences.

"Those who have not taken this course have been cheated out of one of life's greatest adventures, but one of its most sacred promises."

"The marriages that heaven might disclaim are those where Nature has denied the orchestral accompaniment of children to their duties, responsibilities, drudgery and monotony of everyday life."

"My clever old friend, the late Mrs. E. B. Hale, once said to me she thought every woman should be allowed at least one baby without loss of reputation. Loving all cradled things as I do, I prefer this to the modern propaganda of birth control."

"It was fashionable in my youth for girls of 13 and boys under 25 to marry. . . . The parents today are more sensible; and both men and women can marry at any age and like, and preferably after they have gained a certain amount of knowledge of each other. That any woman of the age of 30 could repeat the masculine sense and exaltation of a man of 20 could be said to be a man of 70 could be a championship at golf. Would you say today that a girl who says one day that she is in love at the height of her power—whether physical, moral, or intellectual—before the age of 25, or that married women were faded at 30? It is difficult to say which of the two sexes is the more persistent, but I am inclined to think women are. They have more courage, thicker skin, and less sense of humor. Who has ever heard of a man bringing an action for breach of promise of marriage against a woman? And if he did, what sort of sympathy would be extended to him?

"Women no longer desire to be loved as ideals; they have an urgent longing for something less artificial and more sincere, and the best of them want to be loved for themselves."

"Being in love usually concerns only part of a human being and a part which sometimes has to be amputated. . . . Being in love is not enduring. But to love is different. It is immovable, eternal, and greater than any emotion. Love is not a limb, or a part; but the whole of man's self, and it is for this reason that I think it can only be tested by the sacrifices and fidelity of marriage."

ON FASHION: "Since the days of the Garden of Eden, men and women—or perhaps I should say women and men—have understood the significance of fashion, and practiced the art of allurement. Temptation, though discouraged, is not forbidden in the Bible, and allurement has never been considered a sin."

"It is commonly said that women dress for women; but in a community consisting entirely of women do not think the majority would take much time over their toilettes. Women are on the defensive. In spite of all the tracts, the trousers, and the talk, women know that their natural protectors are men; and, having this knowledge, it is wiser for them—quite apart from physical reasons—to engage their attention and enlist them on their side. Fashion more than anything else contributes to this instinct.

"I think it is a duty women owe not only to themselves but to every one else, to dress well; and life would be much duller and less informative if it were not for changes in fashion."

"If any woman had dared to define her bustle or expose her calves at any time before the last few years, she would have been ostracized. . . . It is difficult to see to what lengths women in the future can go to attract men's attention. . . . The time will soon arrive when as objects of attraction, skirts as short as kilts may be discarded. The fashion of the present day is what is called the 'Eton crop,' and testooning the chest with large imitation pearls. Women are as to what they swallow. They will pile their plates with bright green peas and India-rubber mushrooms out of this with a courage that deserves the Victoria Cross, and are surprised when their stomachs ache or their complexions become like oil-drums. The more you eat the more you want to eat, and—variation—though not recognized by doctors—is a safe cure for half the maladies that attack mankind."

"It is no use preaching Prohibition. . . . Drink can only be cured by providing more fun for the lower classes and what should be encouraged is Perspiration. Dancing should be taught in every village. Physical exercises circulate the blood and raise the spirits and familiar tunes awaken a kind of common emotion that gives pleasure to people who are assembled together. If half the public-houses were replaced by dancing-salons—where non-alcoholic drinks were sold—there would be a marked decrease in drunkenness."

Dangers of Electricity

By Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D. Former President of the American Medical Association

YOU can't now escape electricity. It is everywhere. Electricity, like every invention that brings new comfort, brings new dangers, and electricity has perhaps brought more of both than any other scientific discovery.

The electrician knows its dangers and the wayfarer is warned by conspicuous red signs of the deadliness of high tension current. The ordinary householder, dealing with tensions of 100 or 250 volts, is never told that these comparatively low tension currents are practically as deadly as the cross country currents of which he is warned by a skull and crossbones. A shock from the ordinary house current is quite severe enough to cause death, burns, fractures, or obstinate neuritis.

It is very rarely that a victim actually comes in contact with both poles of the current and receives it directly through his body. What few people realize, however, is that all currents tend to go to earth, and that if a person makes contact with the supply wire and with earth, he will receive almost as severe a shock as if he had bridged the supply and the return wires. Earth is not necessarily soil, but may be cement, floor, a damp stone or a brick floor, a basin, bath, or tap.

A frequent source of mishap is a switch or lamp of which the insulation is broken down, so that the metal work is in circuit with the supply and is therefore "alive."

A person can handle a live switch as much as he likes as long as he is standing on dry tile, linoleum or carpet or anything that insulates him from the earth. Let him, however, hold a live hand lamp in one hand and turn a water faucet tap with the other, and he will receive a shock that will hurt him. To handle any kind of electric apparatus while in a bath is to court greater danger than any other of the risks of ordinary life.

A current of 65 volts may cause death. An alternating current is four times as dangerous as direct.

The danger varies with the humidity of the skin. What is a startling shock to a dry hand may be death to a wet one.

The cause of death by electrocution is not very well established. Some authorities think that the current disorganizes the work of the nerve centers situated in the stem of the brain, where all the vital functions, such as breathing, are controlled, since the heart stops beating and the victim does not breathe. The current may have the effect, however, of paralyzing the breathing apparatus first and stopping the heart through lack of oxygenation. Animal experiments have shown that the heart of an electrocuted animal is thrown by the current into the state of tremor in which it cannot beat. Those who believe that this occurs in man are suspicious of the usefulness of artificial respiration, but many victims of electricity have nevertheless been saved by this method, applied in exactly the same way as it is to those apparently drowned.

HAVING AND HOLDING HANDSOME HUSBANDS

Winifred Black Couldn't Help Listening to This Poor Old Soul Who Poured Out Her Woes on the Club Porch.

By WINIFRED BLACK

THE Middle-Aged Woman thinks she's losing her husband. And I'm a little bit afraid that what she thinks is true. Poor thing—I wish she wouldn't hint about it to everyone she meets. Yesterday I sat on the porch of a country clubhouse with her, and her husband went by with two or three men.

Handsome man, her husband; fresh, color, iron-gray hair, well groomed, good humored, kindly, popular.

"There he goes," said the woman, "he doesn't even look up to see where I am. I can remember the time when I couldn't breathe without his noticing it. He never forgot me for a minute, not a minute, and now he doesn't even remember I'm alive."

"I go to the theater—when I go alone. I just take the car and run down and sit in the back of the house and nobody sees me. He doesn't think anything about it. My husband isn't interested in the kind of plays I like. He likes girls and more girls and more girls after that. And some men sitting beside him to talk about them and say what beautiful eyes they have—or whatever."

"I'll tell you, it's the gray hair that does it. When a woman begins to get gray she might just as well give up. Her husband's gone for good. At least my husband is. All he can think about is flappers and bobbed hair and short skirts. Well, that's the way of the world. I suppose, but it's bitter, awfully bitter, when you've been a good wife to a man for years, borne his children, helped him up through poverty and then—poor! All at once—he's gone."

All the while she was at the country club that's the way this poor soul talked. Her husband heard her time and again. He turned purple but he never said a word.

Not one word.

What a mistake she's making, poor soul! She's walking on thin ice, and instead of stepping lightly and slipping by, she stamps along

There's Foot Binding in America, Survey Shows

WASHINGTON.—The desire for small feet is by no means confined to the women of China, judging from the report just issued by the American Home Economics Association on effects of various types of shoes on the feet of high school students.

A survey made by Professor Katherine Cranor of Iowa State College and by Maude Eastwood Little, covering 311 high school girls showed that shoes both too short and too narrow were worn by 269. Only 28 wore correct length and 14 correct width shoes.

The shoes were examined as to type, length and width. Next the feet were measured and examined for defects. Only one student was found to have normal feet.

Despite the fact that high school girls are supposed to be of upper age and tastes, investigators did not find the high heel much in evidence. Oxfords were most commonly worn, though the older girls wore pumps frequently. Only about 57 per cent of the shoes had been fitted on the wearers when purchased.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
20-23 Wyatt Building.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Ample precedent for the recent appeals by the newly organized Citizens' National Committee for Federal Intervention in Behalf of Sacco and Vanzetti.
In 1915 President Wilson made two appeals to Gov. Spry of Utah to stay the execution of Joseph Hillstrom, a Swedish I. W. W. agitator, who had been convicted on circumstantial evidence the year previous for the murder of J. G. Morrison, a grocer, and his young son. Gov. Spry acceded to the President's first request, granting a respite of 46 days. When no new evidence was presented to the Utah Parole Board after that time had elapsed, the Governor refused to comply with the President's second appeal and Hillstrom was executed by a firing squad.
In his first message to Spry, Wilson said that he acted upon representations made to him by the Swedish minister. In his second, he urged a reconsideration of the case on the grounds of "advisability and justice."
Wilson's Appeal for Mooney.
In 1915 Wilson appealed four times to Gov. Stephens of California in behalf of Thomas J. Mooney, a San Francisco labor leader who was sentenced to death for alleged participation in the San Francisco preparedness day bomb explosion on July 22, 1916, in which 10 persons were killed and many wounded. The death sentence finally was commuted to life imprisonment. Mooney is still in the California penitentiary and sporadic attempts are still made to induce the Governor to pardon him, his pleaders declaring that he was convicted on the perjured testimony of a discredited witness.
U. S. Records Kept Secret.
The Mooney case had many points in common with the present Sacco and Vanzetti conviction in Boston. Mooney had the support of labor leaders and liberals throughout the world, who charged that he had been "framed" by California business interests eager to get a leading labor agitator out of the way. A Federal agency—the Immigration Bureau of the Labor Department—made an investigation and its report to President Wilson's mediation commission, of which Felix Frankfurter was secretary, presented strong evidence to sustain the charge.
In the present instance, the Department of Justice has a file on Sacco and Vanzetti, which apparently deals with the alleged anarchistic activities of the two condemned men, and might throw light on the evidence presented at their trial.
In the Mooney case, President Wilson had access to the immigration files through his mediation commission. The Department of Justice files on Sacco and Vanzetti are being kept secret. The Department of Justice officials declare that they have not made these documents public for fear they might involve the political activities of the defendants in a criminal case.
The Immigration Bureau's report to the mediation commission also was secret until the House Labor Committee demanded it. Mooney was alive when the Immigration Bureau's report was released, and he received the benefit of its startling charges of corruption against the prosecuting attorney and one of the State Supreme Court justices.
Wilson's Mediation Commission.
Like the Sacco-Vanzetti case, the conviction of Mooney in 1916 became an international cause célèbre in the labor world. In 1917 there was a threat of a general strike, which if it had been carried out, would have virtually stopped all war work. Taking cognizance of the serious labor difficulties that might ensue, President Wilson appointed a mediation commission, headed by William B. Ewing, then Secretary of Labor, to look into the disturbed industrial situation in the mountain region and the Pacific coast. But the commission's real job was to investigate the Mooney conviction.
Secretary Wilson selected John R. Denmore of the Immigration Bureau to do the actual investigating. Denmore, with two trusted employees of his bureau, secretly investigated the character of the jury and the witnesses. According to their report, Mooney had been convicted on the testimony of a person named Oxman, whom they accused of suborning perjury. Prosecuting Attorney Fickert was the puppet of California business men, and Supreme Court Justice

Spry acceded to the President's first request, granting a respite of 48 days. When no new evidence was presented to the Utah Pardon Board after that time had elapsed, the Governor refused to comply with the President's second appeal and Hillstrom was executed by a firing squad.

In his first message to Spry, Wilson said that he acted upon representations made to him by the Swedish minister. In his second, he urged a reconsideration of the case on the grounds of "advisability and justice."

Wilson's Appeal for Mooney.
In 1918 Wilson appealed four times to Gov. Stephens of California in behalf of Thomas J. Mooney, a San Francisco labor leader who was sentenced to death for alleged participation in the San Francisco bombing explosion on July 22, 1916, in which 19 persons were killed and many wounded. The death sentence finally was commuted to life imprisonment. Mooney is still in the California penitentiary and sporadic attempts are still made to induce the Governor to pardon him, his pleaders declaring that he was convicted on the perjured testimony of a discredited witness.

U. S. Records Kept Secret.
The Mooney case had many points in common with the present Sacco and Vanzetti conviction in Boston. Mooney had the support of labor leaders and liberals throughout the world, who charged that he had been "framed" by California business interests eager to get a leading labor agitator out of the way. A Federal agent, the immigration bureau of the Labor Department—made an investigation and its report to President Wilson's mediation commission, of which Felix Frankfurter was secretary, hinted strongly evidence to sustain the charge.

In the present instance, the Department of Justice has a file on Sacco and Vanzetti, which apparently deals with the alleged anarchistic activities of the two condemned men, and might throw light on the evidence presented at their trial.

In the Mooney case, President Wilson had access to the immigration files through his mediation commission. The Department of Justice files on Sacco and Vanzetti are being kept secret. The Department of Justice officials declare that they have not made those documents public for fear they might involve the political activities of the defendants in a criminal case.

The Immigration Bureau's report to the mediation commission was not made public until the House Labor Committee demanded it. Mooney was alive when the Immigration Bureau's report was released, and he received the benefit of its startling charges of corruption against the prosecuting attorney and one of the State Supreme Court Justices.

Wilson's Mediation Commission.
Like the Sacco-Vanzetti case, the action of Mooney in 1916 became an international cause célèbre in the labor world. In 1917 there was a threat of a general strike, which if it had been carried out would have virtually stopped all war work. Taking cognizance of the serious labor difficulties that might ensue, President Wilson appointed a mediation commission, headed by William B. Ewald, then Secretary of Labor, to look into the disturbed industrial situation and the Pacific coast. But the commission's real job was to investigate the Mooney conviction.

Secretary Wilson selected John D. Denmore, with two trusted employees of his bureau, secretly investigated the character of the jury and the witnesses. According to the report, Mooney had been convicted on a confession by a person named Oxman, whom they accused of suborning perjury; prosecuting Attorney Fickert was the puppet of California business men, and Supreme Court Justice

Henshaw, one of the judges who refused Mooney a retrial, was a confessed bribe taker.

Denmore's conclusions after his investigation read like the present criticism of the Massachusetts courts.

"The plain truth is," declared Denmore, "there is nothing about the case to produce a feeling of confidence that the dignity and the majesty of the law have been upheld. There is nowhere anything more remotely resembling confidence, the effect being that of patchwork, of incongruous makeshift and often, dangerous expediency."

California Courts Stood Pat.
Despite the findings of Denmore the California courts, with amazing consistency, continued to find Mooney guilty, although his wife, Rena, and another codefendant, Israel Weinberg, were acquitted when they came up for trial. Oxman was not named against them. The higher courts held that they could review the case only upon the record, and the Denmore report was not in the record. Secretary Wilson would not allow him to testify so long as Fickert conducted the case.

President Wilson Intervened for Mooney at various stages of the trials, on March 2, 1918; March 30, June 6, and finally on Nov. 29, when Gov. Stephens commuted the death sentence to life imprisonment, after the United States Supreme Court had refused to review the case.

The "Due Process" Clause.
The Mooney case came to the highest court in the land in October, 1918, on the "due process" clause of the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution. This is the same clause Sacco and Vanzetti relied upon in their appeal to the United States and Federal Circuit Judge Anderson. It reads:

"All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce a law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

Acting under this clause the United States Supreme Court has intervened innumerable times in extraordinary cases to stay execution of sentences imposed by State courts. As a rule, however, the decisions of the lower courts unless they have been guilty of gross irregularities. While such appeals are pending, however, the Supreme Court demands that the execution shall be stayed, regardless of the possible outcome of the review.

Supreme Court's Powers.
One of the most drastic opinions delivered in the Supreme Court was written by Justice Holmes in an original contempt citation against a Tennessee Sheriff who allowed a mob to lynch a Negro after the Court had ordered a stay of execution pending his appeal from the State courts on a petition for a habeas corpus writ alleging that his trial had not been in con-

the Arkansas Supreme Court, where the decisions of the lower courts were affirmed. They appeared to the Federal District Court, but the Federal Judge sustained the demurrer filed by the State officers. The Negroes appealed from this decision to the Supreme Court.

When U. S. Courts May Intervene.
In the decision reversing the District Court, the Supreme Court held that "a trial for murder in a State court which is hurried to a conviction without regard to rights is without due process of law and absolutely void." It further laid down the doctrine that it was the duty of a Federal Court in disregard of the constitutional guarantees, holding that "in the absence of sufficient corrective powers afforded by the State courts, when persons held under death sentence and alleging facts showing that their conviction resulted from such a trial, apply to the Federal District Court for habeas corpus, that court must decide whether the facts so alleged are true and whether they can be explained so as to leave the State proceeding undisturbed."

Judges McReynolds and Sutherland dissented from this opinion, contending that if the Negroes' petition were granted the court's action would throw open the doors of the Federal judiciary to all persons convicted in the State courts.

Ruling in Leo Frank Case.
This was the same ruling taken by the majority in the celebrated Leo M. Frank case which had come to the Supreme Court from Georgia in 1915. Frank's counsel argued that mob domination was so strong in the trial court that they were warned that neither they nor the accused had better be in the court room when the verdict was returned. The threat, according to their argument, was that if they proceeded against the accused, they would be hung or acquitted. Frank's attorneys were not allowed to be in the court room when the verdict was returned. In their petition to the Supreme Court they alleged that this action revealed disregard of due process. The court denied their petition. But Justices Holmes and Hughes dissented from the majority opinion.

Some Specific Instances.
Supreme Court records abound in instances in which the Federal courts have intervened in State criminal cases. In a great majority of these cases, the court has affirmed the decisions of the lower courts. Appended, however, are a few of the lower court cases.

Hopt vs. Utah, 104 U. S. 631.
110 U. S. 574.—Defendant was convicted of murder. Case came to U. S. Supreme Court on writ of error. Judgment reversed and new trial ordered. DECISION LIKELY FRIDAY IN SACCO CASE APPEAL

Arguments Heard by Supreme Court on Two Bills of Exceptions Taken by Radicals' Counsel.

MOVE TO GET CASE INTO U. S. COURT

New Application to U. S. Supreme Justice Holmes Expected if Decision Is Against Defense.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BOSTON, Aug. 17.—The fate of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, whose 12-day respite from the electric chair will expire at midnight next Monday, now rests, so far as the Massachusetts State courts are concerned, with four Justices who, sitting as the full bench of the Supreme Court, heard arguments yesterday for and against two bills of exceptions taken by counsel for the condemned men.

Arguments of Arthur D. Hill, chief defense counsel, and Attorney-General Arthur K. Reading, representing the State, were completed at 3 p. m. yesterday. The Justices, Henry King, Braley, who presided, and Edward F. Pierce, James B. Carroll and William Cushing Wait, are expected to announce their decision Friday morning.

Federal Appeal Looked For.
Indications that Hill will try again to take the case before the United States Supreme Court, should the Massachusetts Supreme Court refuse to grant a writ of habeas corpus, were found in Hill's inquiry today at the Federal Court offices as to the procedure for filing a petition for a writ of certiorari.

Hill obtained forms for the petition and indicated that should he proceed with them, the first move would be to go before Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes at his home in Beverly, Mass. Justice Holmes' decision last week to entertain a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, the effect of a writ of certiorari, should be granted, would be to take the entire record of the Sacco-Vanzetti case before the United States Supreme Court. The court then would decide whether or not it should hear the case.

In his appeal before the State Supreme Court yesterday, Hill said: "There is something more important than life and death, and that something is the honor of our commonwealth. It is not only Sacco and Vanzetti who are on trial here. It is each of us who is engaged about the case. It is the bench and bar of Massachusetts. It is our entire system of criminal law."

It is for us to prove that that system is worthy of the great traditions of our commonwealth, that in our hands no man, no matter how hostile to our institutions he may be, no matter how little we sympathize with his political, social or his economic views, no matter how we may have been shocked by his conduct or outraged by his mad and senseless clamor, and insane violence of some of his friends—that no man need fear that under our Constitution and our laws he does not get justice.

"I know that there has been a commission to pass on the whole of the case, but no commission constituted by the fiat of an executive, however eminent, however conscientious its members may be, can take the place of the courts of the commonwealth."

"To those courts individuals have a right to appeal for the protection of their rights not only as a matter of theory, but as a matter of sound common sense, because no commission, no matter how eminent, has the technical experience, the collected equipment, the knowledge acquired first hand of how criminal trials should be conducted. That lies in the minds and consciences of the judges of the commonwealth."

"No learning, no eminence, no conscious desire to do right can make the experience of a president of a university nor the teacher of a technical school nor even of a probate judge adequate to pass in review the action of a criminal court."

Attacks Supporting Affidavits.
Attorney General Reading argued that all of the defense exceptions should be overruled. He attacked the nine supporting affidavits filed with the petition for the writ of error which Justice Sanderson denied Aug. 8, and which were signed by the bill of exceptions to his ruling.

Reading contended the affidavits were "sufficient to show that no

BLAMES POLITICS FOR DISCONTENT IN PHILIPPINES

Report of Late Gov.-Gen. Wood Says Hostile Leaders Charge Curtailing of Autonomy by U. S.

DECRIES "LAMENTABLE LACK OF INTEREST"

General Financial Conditions in Islands Satisfactory, Official Review Declares.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The people of the Philippine Islands were described as "generally prosperous and contented, and more than ever appreciative of American sovereignty" in the annual report of the late Governor-General Leonard Wood made public yesterday by the War Department.

Drafted by the Governor before he departed from the islands for what proved to be his last trip home, the report said a "lamentable lack of interest" in the economic development of the archipelago still continued and that undue emphasis was being placed "upon the importance of mere political activity largely serving immediate personal ambitions."

While General Emilio Aguinaldo and a number of other prominent Filipinos support the administration openly and have done much to counteract policies of those advocating anti-Americanism, the report added that "certain political leaders continued to stir up opposition."

Agitation by Politicians.
It said that although the "cry that the administration is curtailing local autonomy" was heard much of its potency, that as long as it continued ambitious political leaders would use it to promote personal and party needs.

"The year 1926 saw the effective use of it for perpetuation of control of the dominant political party and leader," the report continued. "At the beginning of the year there was formed the so-called supreme national council, the dominant purpose of this council was to preserve existing political leadership by placing in the hands of those ten men the direct control of all political matters. It was not a move toward representative government, but a move toward the well-balanced political parties."

In Excellent Financial Condition.
The late Governor-General said insular finances were in "excellent" condition; that crop prospects were favorable with the exception of sugar; but that extension of education, public health, communications and public works depended upon economic progress.

"Without placing an undue burden upon existing taxable values and burdening business activities," the report said, "the present income of the Government cannot be materially increased, unless larger taxable values are created and business is extended by the encouragement of the investment of capital, both local and outside."

prejudicial bias existed as far as Judge Thayer was concerned and especially that no prejudicial bias in any way affected the trial or the validity of the judgment, which latter fact is alone reviewable upon a writ of error."

The affidavits offered by the defense were made by Frank P. Shibley, a reporter for the Boston Globe; Elizabeth R. Bernkopf, and John Nicholas Befel, also newspaper reporters; Mrs. Lois R. Rantoul, who observed the trial for the Greater Boston Federation of Churches; George U. Crocker, Prof. James P. Richardson, Robert Benchley, dramatic editor of Life; Elias Field, attorney; Candido De Bona and former Chief of Police, Gallivan of Braintree.

During Hill's argument Justice Braley indicated the appeal to Justice Sanderson last week was an appeal not to a member of the Supreme Court, but to a County Judge, and that a county justice lacked jurisdiction in hearing a petition for a writ of error. Hill immediately asked permission to file such a writ before the full bench, but said he would not press for an answer at once, and the court did not state whether it would receive such a writ.

SIX NATIONS ASK LEAGUE TO CURB LIQUOR SMUGGLING

Petition Declares Illicit Traffic Can Only Be Stopped Through International Measures.

Copyright, 1927, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., (New York World and Post-Dispatch).

GENEVA, Aug. 17.—International measures to prevent liquor smuggling under the auspices of the League of Nations will be considered by the League Assembly as the result of a petition received by the Secretariat.

This document, signed by Foreign Ministers Benes of Czechoslovakia, Zaleski of Poland, Lofgren of Sweden, Votomaa of Finland, Vandervalde of Belgium and Moltzen of Denmark, says:

"Many states have been obliged in recent years to take energetic steps to prevent smuggling of alcohol across their frontiers, especially so in the case of illicit traffic in international and cannot effectively be suppressed except through international measures."

It points to the anti-smuggling treaties between the United States and Baltic countries and urges general international convention under the auspices of the League to consider prohibition. The foreign ministers point out that the Mandates Commission, the Child Welfare Committee and other League organizations already are studying the question, so it is within the League's province.

An advisory committee on alcoholism, appointed by the League Council is proposed to carry on the investigation. Foreign Ministers Benes, Vandervalde and Moltzen explain they have added their signatures because they "desire to join the action already taken by certain states to combat alcoholism and because they are convinced such action cannot be really effective unless developed on the widest possible basis."

France and Italy, it is learned, will lead the fight against favorable action on the petition in the assembly.

FRANCE AND GERMANY SIGN NEW TREATY ON TARIFF RATES

Both Nations Win Concessions on Shipments After Three Years' Negotiations.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Aug. 17.—France and Germany placed their signatures today on a commercial treaty based largely on most-favored national tariffs, after three years of frequently interrupted negotiations. It is a complex arrangement of several thousand clauses, effective Sept. 6.

By the treaty France will get better terms on agricultural products, textiles, shoes, machinery, toilet articles and porcelain, while Germany will benefit on chemicals, machinery, electrical goods, cement and leather work. Most favored nation treatment will be applied for both sides by Dec. 15, 1928, at the latest.

France won the long-contested right to export a limited amount of wines to Germany on favorable terms, while Germany exacted numerous concessions, many of which are not connected with the tariff.

Irish Parliament Turns Down No-Confidence Motion by One-Vote Margin.

DECIDING BALLOT CAST BY SPEAKER

Laborites' Move to Overthrow President Supported by De Valera's 43 Men and Nationalists.

Copyright, 1927, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., (New York World and Post-Dispatch).

DUBLIN, Aug. 17.—The Cosgrave administration retained office and weathered its first serious Parliamentary crisis by the narrow margin of one vote.

The result was entirely unexpected, for De Valera's Fianna Fail, the Laborites and Capt. Redmond's eight Nationalists were all known to be opposed to Cosgrave. But the absence of one of Capt. Redmond's men turned a probable majority of one against the Government into tie.

After the vote was announced, Parliament was adjourned until Oct. 13. The future is believed to hinge on the results of two by-elections which will be held in Dublin constituencies.

Result of These Elections.
If the Government should win both of them, Cosgrave will probably retain office. Should they be divided or against him, it is supposed he would consider a majority based on the speaker's vote too precarious and order a new general election in the autumn.

The debate was featured by the speaker of all Ireland, except De Valera. The close of the speaking was dramatic, for Cosgrave made reference to the assassination of his Minister of Justice, Kevin O'Higgins, declaring: "How O'Higgins feel today? How have they felt during the past few days? Will they feel easier, if this motion is passed?"

Johnson, who started the verbal fireworks, attacked the Government, having failed to give Ireland the period of peace which he needed so badly for reconstruction. The Cosgrave administration, he declared, had done little for the workers, had done nothing to aid unemployment and had only increased the country's distrust by the new electoral requirement that candidates must agree to take the oath of allegiance and by the new public safety bill resulting from the O'Higgins murder.

Because of the bitterness between the Government men and the Fianna Fail, it would be best to have a cabinet pledged to neither Johnson said, and Labor offered to support a cabinet.

Cosgrave Makes Reply.
Cosgrave in replying, declared that, despite Johnson's stress of the economic failures of the Government, his no-confidence motion was motivated purely by politics. When he asserted that only one armed force could be maintained in Ireland, even Laborites joined in the cheering.

Patrick Easter, leader of the Farmers, who supported the Government, suggested a coalition of the Cosgrave and De Valera forces, but there is little chance, it is felt, that that will happen.

Redmond, in announcing his opposition to the Government, pointed out that the administration party had once been in rebellion with De Valera and ought to be willing to see the Fianna Fail cease from its rebellion and take over the Government.

The only statement from the De Valera faction was a brief announcement from Deputy O'Kelly that the Republicans would vote against the Government.

When the vote was taken it showed that Johnson had the backing of his 21 Laborites, De Valera's 43, six of Redmond's men and one Independent. Cosgrave polled his own 48, 15 Independents and 11 Farmers.

ST. JOSEPH, MO., OPENS MUNICIPAL AIRPORT

Elaborate Lighting System Makes New 150-Acre Flying Field Light as Day.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 17.—When Mayor Louis V. Stigall last night threw the switch which controls the new lighting system at the St. Joseph airport, Rosecrans Municipal Flying Field, its official name, became light as day, and the Mayor announced to the world that St. Joseph was the first city in the country to have a municipally owned and operated airport meeting the requirements of the United States Department of Commerce for army and civilian flying.

Carl H. Wolfley, vice president of the National Aeronautic Association, was the first man to make a flight over the newly lighted field. He flew in a plane piloted by Page McFee.

The flying field embraces 150 acres situated in the Missouri River bottoms just outside the city limits, within 10 minutes by motor car from the post office. The ground, which had been a wheat field, was leveled and sodded and now is smooth as a floor. It is fenced and a hangar was built by the city at an expense of $25,000. The total cost of the ground and equipment was approximately $125,000. The hangar has a capacity of 15 airplanes and also quarters for the shop of the National Air Transport, Inc., contractor for the Chicago-Pallas air mail route, on which St. Joseph is a station stop. The N. A. T. maintains a force of mechanics here for overhauling its mail plane engines.

The lighting system, also installed at the expense of the city, has a beacon revolving light of 3,000 candle-power. It is located on a high bluff overlooking the field and is said to cast a beam 75 miles. There are on the field 65 white and green safety lights and 18 red danger lights, each of 100 watts. The lighting system installed at a cost of $7000 was pronounced perfect by aeronauts, who made experimental flights from the field last night.

The system will not be in regular use until the installation of night passenger and express service on the Chicago-Pallas route, to be soon after Sept. 1.

The city purchased the tract for the air field three years ago on the installment plan and has just made the last payment on it. Prior to that a leased tract near Lake Contrary was used, but it was not so suitable. The field now used was strongly approved by War Department officials and by many aeronauts.

PLANT SCIENCE GROUP VISITS SHAW'S GARDEN

Seminar on Drug Problems Precedes Pharmaceutical Program Next Week.

Delegates to the fifth annual Plant Science Seminar today inspected the scientific and literary treasures of Shaw's Garden and were welcomed by Dr. George T. Moore, the garden's director.

Professors of botany, pharmacology and materia medica are here to discuss their problems in a four-day seminar at the garden, preliminary to the diamond jubilee of the American Pharmaceutical Association next week at the Hotel Coronado. A report on a survey of native drug resources was a feature of today's program.

Chemical examination had indicated that a recent substitute for viburnum prunifolium (the black haw, which provides an important anti-spasmodic drug) might be as efficacious as the original, Prof. H. W. Youngken of the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy told the delegates in the opening session yesterday.

He said he had found some crude drug dealers substituting a lighter bark, called "Shawnee haw bark," which he identified as viburnum cassinoides. Upon analysis, however, it showed properties similar to the prunifolium, and, he suggested, if physiological tests on animals gave the same findings, it might be officially included in the United States Pharmacopoeia.

Exhaustive comparison was made yesterday between the United States Pharmacopoeia and the New German Pharmacopoeia, or list of drugs. It was shown that each had advantages, but the pharmacologists appeared well satisfied with the American work.

Kinship between plants and animals is to be discussed tomorrow. Moving pictures of the processes of growth in plants are to be shown by Dr. Moore tomorrow evening, and Friday will be spent at the 1600-acre addition of the garden at Gray's Summit with the Kellogg Wild Flower Society and the Naturalists' Club. George H. Pring, horticulturist of the garden and noted orchid collector, will speak before an inspection of the world's finest public collection of showy orchids in the Gray's Summit greenhouses.

COURTHOUSE MOTTOES MUST BE IN ENGLISH

Committee Considering Inscriptions Bans Latin—Hadley to Be Consulted.

The western world gets its laws from ancient Rome, but Latin inscriptions for the new $4,000,000 civil courthouse are banned.

A committee headed by President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service decided yesterday that all inscriptions must be in English, after considering several Latin mottoes sent in by the public. The committee has asked the public to submit suggestions and will meet again Friday to weigh the merits of additional suggestions. Meanwhile, it will consult Chancellor Hadley of Washington University.

The committee needs seven short inscriptions, five of which will be duplicated. One is to be used for the corner stone.

Joe L. Moore of Commerce, Mo., suggested an inscription he saw on the Boone County courthouse at Columbia when he was a student at the University of Missouri 40 years ago: "Oh justice, when expelled from other habitations make this thy dwelling place."

Hugh McKittick of St. Louis submitted a number of suggestions, including some from the Bible. "Doth God pervert judgment or doth the Almighty pervert justice?" was from the Book of Job. Another from Samuel II: "Oh that I were made judge in the land that every man which hath any suit or cause might come unto me and I would do him justice."

Other suggestions included: "Ye shall come in the name of justice to be honored by all." "Equal and exact justice to all men of whatsoever state or persuasion, religious or political," taken from Thomas Jefferson's writings.

"Justice is the great interest of men on earth," from Daniel Webster.

"Earthly power doth then show likest Gods when mercy seasons justice," from the Merchant of Venice.

Six Witnesses Testify for Man Identified in Court by Victim of Attack.

SOPERTON, Ga., Aug. 17.—Identified in court as the masked flogger of Editor H. M. Flanders near here on the night of Feb. 25, Raymond Lee sought to establish proof in his trial here today that he remained home throughout the evening on which the incident occurred.

Flanders, editor of the Soperton News, severely beaten by a band of hooded men while he was returning here alone by automobile from a nearby town, took the stand yesterday as the sole witness of the prosecution. He testified Lee was the man who struck him.

The State rested its case with this testimony, while the defense introduced six witnesses in seeking to prove that Lee was seen at various hours near his home at the time of the flogging. One witness declared he had stayed with Lee at the latter's home the night of the whipping and that Lee did not leave the house that evening.

Prohibition Officer, His Son, 18, and Friend Shot While Camping in West Virginia Hills.

By the Associated Press.
LOGAN, W. Va., Aug. 17.—Volunteers from the rifles of moonshiners in an ambush, who are thought to have taken a party of campers as spies, today had increased the number of such killings in the mountains of West Virginia to five in little more than a month.

Three men, one a state prohibition agent, dropped under the sudden fire which whirled the camp on Island Creek yesterday. The agent, another prohibition agent, was shot from ambush while searching the wooded mountains for moonshiners still. Another dry agent was killed on July 26.

Three men were under arrest today in connection with the ambush, in which Ed Hensley, prohibition agent, Don, his 18-year-old son, and Ernest Marcum, all of Hart's Creek, were killed. Of the eight surviving members ment by grand jury is not essential part of due process of law required by 14th amendment.

Holden vs. Minnesota, 137 U. S. 433—Defendant was convicted of murder. He obtained a writ of habeas corpus from U. S. Circuit Court and appealed to U. S. Supreme Court from order of discharge after hearing on this writ. Judgment affirmed, chief justice on ground that defendant had not satisfactorily shown that he was being kept in solitary confinement as he alleged.

Another Missouri Case.
Hayes vs. Missouri, 120 U. S. 68.—Defendant was convicted of murder. Case came to U. S. Supreme Court on writ of error, based on ground that State was allowed more peremptory challenges in cities of over 100,000 than in remainder of State. Judgment affirmed on ground that provision questioned was not a denial of equal protection of the laws.

Gibson vs. Mississippi, 162 U. S. 516.—Defendant was convicted of murder. Case came to U. S. Supreme Court on writ of error, based on refusal of State court to permit removal to Federal court. The chief complaint was the omission of Negroes from jury panel. Judgment affirmed on ground that defendant had not shown facts sufficient to justify removal of case.

Nobles vs. Georgia, 168 U. S. 338.—Defendant was convicted of murder. Case came to U. S. Supreme Court on writ of error, based on contention that there had not been adequate hearing of question of insanity, raised after sentence. Judgment affirmed on ground that due process does not require any special formalities attending such a hearing when question is first raised after sentence.

Lower Court Order Usually Affirmed.
Brown vs. New Jersey, 175 U. S. 32.—Defendant was convicted of murder by a struck jury, i. e., a jury chosen from the street and not from panel. Case came to Supreme Court on writ of error based on contention that trial by struck jury is not due process of law. Judgment affirmed on ground that this contention was not well founded.

As will be noted, the United States Supreme Court affirmed the decision of the lower court in a majority of the cases. Nevertheless, in each case, the Supreme Court intervened and issued stays of execution until it had fully considered what was the law.

A tip for office workers

What kind of people do employers like to have around them?

Certainly not people with Halitosis (unpleasant breath). You couldn't blame a man for firing an employee with Halitosis to hire one without it. Why not keep yourself continually on the safe and polite side by daily rinsing the mouth with Listerine.

1/3 Had Halitosis
200 dentists declare that about every third patient is frequently halitosis—and further declare they have been forced to use Listerine in self-defense.

PROPOSES STATE REBUILD HOME OF SACCO JUROR

Gov. Fuller Expresses Sympathy to Citizen Whose House Was Wrecked by Bomb—To Offer Reward

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BOSTON, Aug. 17.—While city and state police were guarding the homes of 10 of the 11 living jurors who six years ago found Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti guilty of murder, Gov. Fuller, his executive council and legislators were considering measures whereby the State might rebuild the home of the eleventh, Lewis McHardy, whose house in East Milton was wrecked yesterday by an explosion due to a bomb thrown by a machine driven by a man believed to be B. A. Berry, a carpenter, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon when struck by a machine driven by Joseph Casey, a contractor, of 5822 Pershing avenue, at Seventeenth and Chestnut streets. In the man's pockets were found membership cards in that name for the Carpenters' Union of Indianapolis and the Loyal Order of Moose.

Casey said he did not see the man until after his machine had struck him. His attention was attracted, Casey said, by the machine and the shouts of several pedestrians. The man died of a fractured skull and broken collarbone soon after being taken to City Hospital. Casey was arrested and is held for the coroner.

The second of three men in a machine which overturned early Sunday when driven into an air compressor in the street, died at City Hospital yesterday afternoon, a fractured skull having caused the death of Arthur Klorer, of 4345A College street. George Priester, an ice cream maker, of 726 Ponce avenue, was killed instantly in the crash, having been hurled from the machine to the street.

Joseph Demel, a barber, of 5978A Hall's Ferry road, driver of the machine, was held on a charge of criminal carelessness by a coroner's jury following an inquest in the death of Priester Monday. Demel was rearrested and is being held for the coroner in Klorer's death. At the inquest he testified a machine coming in an opposite direction had forced him to drive into the air compressor. Policemen standing nearby at the time denied there was another machine near the scene of the accident.

A coroner's verdict of accident in the death of Joseph Klorer, 71 years old, who lived at the Salvation Army Hotel, was returned today. Meyer was fatally injured Monday evening, when struck by a motorcycle ridden by Alva Baird of 1724 Chouteau avenue. Testimony was given that Baird swerved to avoid striking Meyer, but that Meyer apparently became confused and stepped into the path of the motorcycle.

Naser suffered several fractured ribs and severe cuts and bruises. He was taken to City Hospital. Weatherby was arrested on a charge of criminal carelessness.

Three men were injured in an automobile collision at Meramec street and California avenue last night, when an automobile driven by Charles Strand, a chauffeur, of 765 Field avenue, struck another (driven by Ralph Braun of 7514 Alabama avenue. Strand suffered concussion of the brain when his machine overturned and his brother, Arthur Strand, who was with him, was cut and bruised. Braun suffered severe lacerations.

PADLOCK INJUNCTION FOR MARKET STREET SALOON.

Federal Court Issues Temporary Order Pending Further Hearing in Fall.

Federal Deputy Marshals today padlocked the saloon of Tomas Amore at 700 Market street at the direction of Judge Faris, who yesterday issued a temporary injunction pending a final hearing of a suit instituted yesterday under the nuisance clause of the Volstead act which will be heard on the regular docket of the court this fall. John L. Green and Mabel S. Thompson, owners of the property, are nominal defendants in the suit.

In the action against the place the petition filed by District Attorney Breuer alleged nine violations of the Volstead act in the saloon on Market street which were obtained since 1922. If the Government is successful in obtaining a permanent injunction the saloon premises will be padlocked for one year.

Editorials in the London papers do not disguise satisfaction that yesterday's debate did not result in putting Tom Johnson, Laborite, into power, because, they say, he would virtually be at the mercy of De Valera and the Fianna Fail, with the probable result that the oath of allegiance would be challenged and the Anglo-Irish controversy reawakened.

DRIVER OF AUTO IN COLLISION HELD FOR MAN'S DEATH

Criminal Carelessness Verdict Against August Loepker, Whose Car Hit That of Major O. Martin.

A coroner's verdict of criminal carelessness, holding August Loepker of 2144 McKee avenue, was returned today, following an inquest in the case of Maj. O. Martin, 62 years old, 2635 Roseland terrace, Maplewood.

Martin was fatally injured yesterday when an automobile he was driving collided with a machine driven by Loepker at Thurman and Lafayette avenues.

J. F. Quamby and his son, Basil, of 4417 De Tonty street, testified they observed a machine being driven rapidly east in Lafayette avenue and heard the crash of the collision a block away. This machine, it was brought out, was that driven by Loepker.

J. H. Hogan of 4265 De Tonty, who was with Loepker, testified Loepker was driving about 20 miles an hour when the other machine loomed up suddenly before him. He said he heard no signal given by either driver for the crossing.

Federal Court Issues Temporary Order Pending Further Hearing in Fall.

Federal Deputy Marshals today padlocked the saloon of Tomas Amore at 700 Market street at the direction of Judge Faris, who yesterday issued a temporary injunction pending a final hearing of a suit instituted yesterday under the nuisance clause of the Volstead act which will be heard on the regular docket of the court this fall. John L. Green and Mabel S. Thompson, owners of the property, are nominal defendants in the suit.

In the action against the place the petition filed by District Attorney Breuer alleged nine violations of the Volstead act in the saloon on Market street which were obtained since 1922. If the Government is successful in obtaining a permanent injunction the saloon premises will be padlocked for one year.

view that no Government can carry on long on the strength of the deciding vote of the speaker, the London morning newspapers assume Cosgrave is likely to call a general election in the near future, in which event, some believe, Cosgrave's parliamentary position would be strengthened.

Editorials in the London papers do not disguise satisfaction that yesterday's debate did not result in putting Tom Johnson, Laborite, into power, because, they say, he would virtually be at the mercy of De Valera and the Fianna Fail, with the probable result that the oath of allegiance would be challenged and the Anglo-Irish controversy reawakened.

The Dublin correspondent of the Evening Star today makes a mystery of the failure of Deputy John Jinks to vote yesterday.

"Was Mr. John Jinks kidnapped?" is the caption over the Star's article. The correspondent says Jinks, a member of Redmond's National League party, supported the resolution to vote against the Government which was passed at a party caucus yesterday afternoon, and was in his place in the Dail Eirann an hour before the vote was taken. After that, no one can recall seeing him.

FLYER Praised for Saving His Observer and Himself Maneuvered Damaged Plane Until They Could Make Parachute Leaps to Safety.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—A letter of commendation for courage and skill in handling a damaged airplane has been sent to Sergt. Paul L. Woodruff, Eighty-first Observation Squadron, Crissy Field, Calif., by the chief of the Army Air Corps. Woodruff was cruising above Salt Lake City with Lieut. C. B. Whitney, Air Corps Reserve, as observer, when at an altitude of 800 feet the alleron control wire broke, leaving the plane without means of lateral steering.

Woodruff kept his ship under control and forced his way up to the 2000-foot level, where he signaled Whitney to jump clear with his parachute. With Whitney's weight out of the machine, it went into a nose-dive and Woodruff managed to make his leap when only 500 feet above ground. His parachute opened just in time to save his life.

CHURCH REPORT ON FUNCTION OF CLERGY

Committee at Lausanne Declares Ministers Are Commissioned by Laying on of Hands.

By the Associated Press.
LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Aug. 17.—A common definition of the ministry for all the churches represented at the world conference on faith and order was agreed upon by the Bishop of Gloucester's commission, which has been struggling with the subject for three days.

In recommending for further consideration by all the churches certain suggestions as to possible organization, the commission's report says that its members find themselves in "substantial accord" on fundamental propositions. They include:

"The ministry is perpetually authorized and made effective through Christ and His spirit. The ministry is entrusted with a government and a discipline of the church, in whole or in part.

Men gifted for the work of the ministry, are commissioned through an act of ordination by prayer and the laying on of hands, to exercise the functions of this ministry.

The commission received many requests to incorporate statements of the position of various denominations, and the report meets the situation by summarizing the main points of difference.

It is reported that the delegates of the Eastern Orthodox Church were unable to accept any form of ordination not based on apostolic succession, and their position, it is understood, proved to be one of the main obstacles to further agreement beyond that already stated.

In presenting their case, however, the Eastern Orthodox delegates prayed "that God will guide us to a union even in regard to this difficult point of this agreement."

Suggestions made to the commission as to a possible church organization with reference to ministry were embodied in the report "for consideration of churches."

Included was the following: In view of the fact that Episcopal, Presbyterian and Congregational order are each believed by many to be essential in the order of the church, "therefore, we recognize that these several elements must all have an appropriate place in the order of the church and that each accurate communion should gladly bring to the common life of the United Church its own spiritual treasures."

TULSA DELEGATION TO SEEK AIR MAIL LINE TO ST. LOUIS

Six Chamber of Commerce Members to Fly Here for Conference With Postmaster.
Six members of the Tulsa Chamber of Commerce plan to fly to St. Louis, probably tomorrow, to confer with the Aeronautics Committee of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce and Postmaster Michener on establishment of a St. Louis-Tulsa air mail line.

They had planned to leave at 8 a. m. today, but postponed the trip because of uncertain flying conditions and to permit the making of definite appointments with President Bixby of the Chamber of Commerce and Postmaster Michener. Tulsa business interests have offered to finance an aviation company to carry the mail, and their representatives will make the trip here to enlist local cooperation and the recommendation of Postmaster Michener, to be forwarded to the Postmaster-General.

It is pointed out that the proposed line would result in a great saving of time in mail deliveries between Tulsa and New York, a matter of considerable importance to the oil interests. It is also planned to have feeder air links connecting Tulsa with every oil field in the Mid-Continent area.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Prices continued to work higher in today's stock market, which was characterized by frequent shifts of speculative interest from one group to another, but the advance was by no means uniform. "Bear" traders were again active in seeking out soft spots, particularly among some of the high priced specialties, but they failed to bring about any general unsettling.

Operators of the rise were helped by a reduction in call money rates from 3 1/2 to 2 1/2 per cent, the lowest rate since July 28, and by the extension of the recent cuts in Federal Reserve discount rates. There was no change in time money and commercial paper rates.

Steel trade journals reported little change in the situation, emphasizing the cautiousness of the automotive industry in placing orders for future deliveries. Steel Common was heavily bought in the late afternoon on reports that mill operations schedules had been increased from 67 1/2 to around 69 per cent of capacity, the stock closing 2 1/2 points higher at 136 1/2.

Selling in Rails.

Some liquidation developed in the railroad group as a result of speculation in freight statistics showing a marked falling off in car loadings in the first week of August, as compared with the preceding week and the corresponding weeks in 1926 and 1927. Chicago, Baltimore and Ohio, Union Pacific and some other recent favorites sold down a point or two. Pittsburgh & West Virginia, Western Maryland common and second preferred and Peoria & Eastern continued to show special strength. The various merchandising issues attracted special attention today. New high prices for the year, or longer, were attained by Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Abraham & Straus, Mandel Bros., R. H. Macy, Woolworth, S. H. Kress and May Department Stores.

Oil Drops Better.

In the Public Utility division new high ground was reached by American Water Works (new), Engineers' Public Service, Mackay companies and Radio Corporation. Oil did better. Lago, which has conducted an extensive drilling campaign in South America with excellent results, moved up nearly two points to a new peak at 33 1/2. Houston jumped more than 5 points and Atlantic Refining. Phillips and a few others moved up points or two. Hudson assumed the leadership of the motor group. Packard also reached new high ground. Profit-taking checked the advance in Chrysler and General Motors.

Foreign Exchange Dull.

Weather reports continued to be the predominant influence on prices in the commodity markets. Wheat and corn were under pressure in the early trading, but then rallied briskly, while cotton prices went through a reverse movement. Coffee and sugar were little changed on the day.

FIGHT SUNDAY CLOSING320 Owners Attack Law Which Retail Grocers' Attorney
Upholds.Proprietors of 320 delicatessen shops have joined in the petition filed by two such dealers, for an injunction to keep the police from closing their establishments on Sunday, under the ordinance requiring Sunday closing of grocery stores. Judge Rutledge will hear the case Aug. 29.This action appears to align the delicatessen dealers as a class against the grocers, most of whom desire to have the Sunday closing law upheld. Delicatessen shops are now permitted to open between 5 and 6 p. m. on Sundays. The attorney for the Retail Grocers' Association, Lawrence McDaniel, appeared before Judge Rutledge yesterday in support of the Police Board, in a case where an injunction was sought by the Rose-Del Market, 6046 Delmar boulevard.
"The Sunday closing law is not a blue law," McDaniel said. "It is the grocers' own measure, to give them and their clerks a day of rest."The Rose-Del Market management contended that, as it sold only fruits and vegetables, it did not come under the grocery closing law. But it argued that, if it did come under the law, the law was unreasonable and was class legislation. Andrew Sansone, proprietor, told of arrests of his brother,
Anthony, and himself, and said
that though he was now permitted to open the store on Sundays, pending outcome of the suit, his receipts had fallen off from $250 to $50 or $60 a Sunday. Judge Rutledge took the Rose-Del case under advisement.GASOLINE COMPANY SUES FOR RETURN OF $72,000 TAX PAIDPetition Asking City to Return Money Says It Was Remitted Under Protest.A petition asking that the city
be ordered to return $72,761.68 which was paid as gasoline tax by the Automobile Gasoline Co., between Oct. 4, 1925, and May 20, 1925, was filed by the company today in Circuit Court. The company states that during the period
named, the tax of 1/2 cent on each gallon of gasoline it sold was paid under protest.The ordinance providing for the tax passed in 1919, violates the City Charter and the Constitution of the state, the petition alleges. It pointed out that other ordinances
provide a tax on merchandise of 1/2 per cent a year and an additional annual tax of $1 for each $1000 of sales made by merchants of the city. In addition to these taxes, grocery filling stations are singled out for the gasoline tax, the petition points out. This procedure, the dustrial district of Carthage and over the Frisco tracks. Total rainfall here since the first of the

has been lost, and corn has been damaged. The family of the op-

TRICKED HER INTO MARRIAGEBrooklyn Manufacturer Is Sued for Divorce—Charged With Marrying Another.Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Alleging that her stepfather, Abraham Blum, wealthy pocketbook manufacturer, induced her to go through a marriage ceremony which he repudiated and then married another woman, Mrs. Rose Blum appealed to Supreme Justice Riegelsmann in Brooklyn for $50 a week
alimony and $1000 counsel fee,
pending trial of her suit for divorce.As a result of an accident, Mrs.
Blum said, she had been blind
since she was eight years old. Her mother was married to Blum and they reared her. Her mother had been dead a year before she was married to Blum, Nov. 11, 1918,
she said. Three years later a child, Lazarus, was born.After the birth of her child, she said, she was committed to an asylum where she remained four years. Then, she said, she discovered that her husband had married Rebecca Kalstein. She also discovered, she alleged, that no marriage license had been issued.
Blum denied ever having married his step-daughter. He said she is not blind, but that her sight is poor, and that a nervous affection
made her commitment to the hospital necessary. After her mother's death, he declared, she began to call herself "Mrs. Blum." Blum admitted parentage of his step-daughter's child and said he and his second wife are rearing the boy.
Decision was reserved.

WRAY'S COLUMN

"Most Valuable."

VERY soon the committees of two major leagues will begin figuring on their vote for the "most valuable player" in each organization.

The American league will have an easy time in its primary selection. With Babe Ruth named by previous honors, Gehrig becomes the logical choice, provided he does not slip in the next two months.

But the National League will have no such simplicity. There are at least ten men in the league who deserve high mention and the winner, of course, will probably be a member of the pennant-winning team. Until the successful club is determined the nominee will be a deep mystery.

Should Be Changed.

THE American League committee's choice is hampered by a rule which limits the selection to players who have been named to the "most valuable" honor is eligible to the honor a second time.

Playing managers are not eligible.

In one instance at least this condition eliminates three players from one club—Washington. It is conceivable that Tris Speaker, Bucky Harris and Walter Johnson might be mentioned to represent that club's most important player. But two of these already have been voted the honor, while the other is barred by the manager embargo.

Just Guessing.

FLINT RHEM's poor showing since he decided to submit to his $2000 fine has started the pessimists guessing that Rhem could do better, if he would, and that he has leanings toward becoming a member of the John McGraw-Rogers Hornsby troupe.

That would only be natural if true. Almost every ball player has secret leanings toward a berth with the city where so many pennants and so many world's series pots are divided. But in Flint Rhem's case, if his drab showing continues to the point where he must be traded, our guess is that John McGraw will NOT be the lucky man to get him.

The Cardinals need pitchers and the Giants have no pitchers

St. Louis-Built Speedboat Being Tuned Up for Attempt To Lift the World's Title

Edwin C. Koenig, Owner of the New Independence III, Will Challenge Gar Wood's Miss America, Present Holder of the Mile Championship and the International Cup.

The mysterious boat which has been under construction for some months in a local boat builder's plant is no longer a mystery. Edwin C. Koenig, motor-boating enthusiast and promoter of several races in the local harbor, announced today that the new craft, which has been completed, is the "Independence III" and designed in the hope of lifting the world's speedboat championship from Miss America, built and owned by Gar Wood of Detroit.

"I have not felt ready to announce plans regarding the boat before today," Koenig told a Post-Dispatch representative this morning. "But today the last bit of work installing the engines is practically over, and it seems to be all well hoped for and I think it is time to say something about our plans for this vessel which I feel sure is destined for great things."

"We have planned a time trial on the Mississippi next week, and we hope to have it brought off under official conditions, with timers and inspectors from the Mississippi Valley and National Power Boat Associations present. If the water condition is not satisfactory we will go up to Peoria and hold the test there. The water is somewhat better for a time trial there than in the Mississippi."

St. Louis Junior Park Net Tourney Opens Saturday

Entry Lists in Two Divisions Will Close Tomorrow at 5 O'Clock.

With the Central States tournament, the Davis Cup matches and the National Public Parks tournament out of the way, the greater part of the remainder of the tennis season here will be occupied with local tournaments.

Chief among these will be four public parks events and two St. Louis District events. The Wabash Club and the industrial athletic organization of Central Y. M. C. A. also have tournaments scheduled.

Public parks tournaments for juniors, boys and girls, will open on Jefferson Memorial courts, Forest Park, Saturday at 2:30 p. m. The entries, which are being received only by the heads of the various parks tennis clubs, will close Thursday at 5 p. m. The parks tournament for women will open at the same place a week from Saturday, with the entries closing two days earlier. The parks tournament for men was held last month, in order to qualify entrants for the national public parks tournament, which closed here Monday.

Last year approximately 60 juniors, 20 boys, 15 girls and 60 women participated in the parks tournaments held for them.

The St. Louis District's tournament for men will open at the Triple A Club, Sept. 5, and the tournament for women will be held a short time later, on a date not yet definitely decided. The district's tournaments for juniors and boys were held in June.

The Wabash club and Y. M. C. tournaments are both scheduled to start next Saturday, the former on the club's courts at Ferguson, and the latter on public parks courts that have not been assigned.

The Y. M. C. A. tournament, which is open only to members of the central branch who are employees of industrial plants, is being held for the first time this year.

St. Louis-Built Speedboat Being Tuned Up for Attempt To Lift the World's Title

JONES EXPECTS MANY UPSETS IN U. S. AMATEUR GOLF TOURNAMENT

EVANS AND VOIGHT RATED AS DANGEROUS

Every Player to Place in First 32 Is Capable of Beating Champion Von Elm, Bobby Says.

By "Bobby" Jones.

British Open and Southern Champion.

Just now about the most interesting golf topic must be the coming Amateur Championship of Minneapolis on Aug. 22. So far in advance, and without seeing the course, it is a hard matter to form any intelligent idea of the prospects of various players, but there are some things we may observe with comparative safety.

The publication of the U. S. G. A. ranking for this year means, I suppose, that a "seeded draw" will be made so that the first eight ranking players who qualify can meet each other until the third round. "Seeding" was first introduced in golf at Baltusrol last year. When for various reasons it became advisable to crowd the championship into one week, the only feasible solution lay in a compromise with the 18-hole Baltusrol last year. When for various reasons it became advisable to crowd the championship into one week, the only feasible solution lay in a compromise with the 18-hole Baltusrol last year.

With thousands of entrants in the contest, it is possible that several will name the exact line-up selected by Ruth. In that event the committee will make the award to the entrant who has the best explanatory letter accompanying the correct line-up.

Prospective entrants should therefore use care in composing their letters of explanation. The letters must not exceed 200 words, and it is suggested that only one side of the paper be used. Spelling of names and other elements of composition may decide the winner in case of several ties for the one, two, three places.

Interest in the contest is not confined to St. Louis. Numerous out-of-town selections are being received. One letter comes from Floyd Blick, 107 North Tejon street, Colorado Springs, Colo.

The contest will close at midnight Aug. 31. The object of the contest is to select an all-star team for the National and American Leagues which will most closely agree with one which Babe Ruth will select, aided by a committee of leading baseball writers in the major leagues cities.

Only ONE team may be submitted by each reader.

It must consist of 10 players (two pitchers and eight men for the other positions).

Take your time in making your pick. No corrections may be made once an entry is sent in.

A short explanation of the reasons for your choice MUST accompany your entry. The reader whose team is the same or nearest Ruth's selection and is accompanied by the best letter giving reasons for the choice will be declared the winner. The letter must not exceed 200 words.

A player may be placed in a position other than his regular one, providing he has occupied the alternate position in one or more games of the current season.

Players must be selected on the basis of their playing during the 1927 season only. Do not take into consideration records made in previous seasons.

Babe Ruth is not eligible. He will not pick himself for his team.

Trophies of $100, $50 and $25 will be awarded first, second and third places respectively. The winner of the capital trophy will also receive a ball and bat autographed by Babe Ruth.

Mail selections to Babe Ruth Contest Editor, care the Post-Dispatch.

Evans and Voight Dangerous. And the U. S. G. A. ranking should not be comforting to those seeded players who are anxious to get over into the 36 hole class. Chick Evans and George Voight are both in the second 10, not to mention other fine players. The prospect of meeting either over any distance would not likely engender confidence, but over an 18-hole route so much the worse.

Indeed, I can not see how either of these men could be left out of the first ten. Voight, particularly, has been doing wonders this spring and summer. Not properly a seasoned campaigner, he has been good enough to wallop most of the amateurs, and at least to hold his own with the pros. And Evans' brilliant record is not his only qualification. Granting that Chick may not be altogether as good as he was several years ago, he doesn't need to be to hold his own with any amateur in the world. He is one man I shall always respect and fear as an opponent.

I am not acquainted with Voigt's style, so I can say little about how he should do on Minikahda. From what I have heard, the pitching clubs should be the most useful. Evans and Von Elm loom as the best wielders of the malleable among the amateurs, barring Jesse Sweetser, who is not playing, so I should say that they are the two most dangerous men in the field.

Johnston On Home Course. Jimmy Johnston, playing on his home course, I should place not far behind. Jimmy has been playing better this year than ever before, and if local knowledge means anything, he should have his best chance.

Of course, almost any one who qualifies may cut a wide swath through our fine array of preferred talent. Few tournaments run true to form throughout, and there is no reason why the coming event should prove an exception.

One thing is certain: No effort has been or will be spared by Minneapolis citizens and golfers to make the tournament a success. Several communications which I have received make it plain that everyone in Minneapolis and St. Paul is behind the tournament and determined to put it over the top. We shall all enjoy playing in such a splendid golfing city.

Competition in Babe Ruth All-America Contest Is Keener Than Ever This Year

With Thousands of Entrants Several May Pick Correct Combination and More Than Ever Depends on 200-Word Explanations of Selections.

Letters thus far received by the contest editor of the Post-Dispatch Babe Ruth All-America team competition indicate that more persons will try for this year's prizes than took part in the 1925 and 1926 contests combined.

The team this year will be more difficult to pick than ever, due to the fact that there are positions for which several candidates are of almost equal ability.

Third base was the stumbling block in 1925, and Harry Buntin of this city was the only entrant to select Oscar Bluege, Detroit player, in the right combination of players.

War Veteran Won in 1926. Charles Ash, a soldier stationed in the veterans' hospital at Outwood, Ky., won in 1926. In this contest Hargrave, Cincinnati catcher, was the player whom many overlooked in selecting the all-star team.

With thousands of entrants in the contest, it is possible that several will name the exact line-up selected by Ruth. In that event the committee will make the award to the entrant who has the best explanatory letter accompanying the correct line-up.

Prospective entrants should therefore use care in composing their letters of explanation. The letters must not exceed 200 words, and it is suggested that only one side of the paper be used. Japan and Canada Play in American Zone Cup Final Matches Start at Montreal Tomorrow—Doubles Team Undecided.

By the Associated Press.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 17.—Japanese and Canadian tennis teams meet here tomorrow in the American zone final of the Davis Cup series.

Zenzo Shimizu, nonplaying captain of the Japanese team, has tried out various doubles combinations among Takeuchi Harada, Teizo Toba, Yoshiro Ohta and Ryuki Hiki. Hiki and Harada appeared today to be the best pair.

Garnet H. Meldrum of Toronto has been selected as referee. He is president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association and was chosen at the request of Shimizu when it was found that a neutral official was not available.

The Tough Assignment.

UR Brownies are misunderstood.

They're honest to a man.

And, while their best is not so good,

They do the best they can.

To salt the grand old flag away.

Our heroes do not choose:

They can't win every game they play,

And someone has to lose.

Dan Howley bravely does his stuff,

As down the hill they slide;

He says he likes the going tough—

We hope he's satisfied.

It seems that everything occurs

To put them on the blink;

If tough assignments Dan prefers,

He must be tickled pink!

Italian Boxer Arrives.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Tass, 25-year-old, left-handed, here yesterday for a series of fights with American opponents.
Tass, a school teacher before he took up boxing, was introduced to the Gene Tunney of Italy, several knockouts to his credit among them one over the Argentine light-heavyweight, Oliveri, who weighs 175 pounds.

Pennant is "Balanced" Gasoline - Just right for Starting - Just right for Power

Miles do cost less with "balanced" gasoline

The law of mathematics says that two plus two equals four and never can equal anything else. There is likewise a law of nature which says that a light gasoline cannot have excessive quick-starting qualities in a cold motor without sacrificing power in a hot motor; and, similarly, a heavy gasoline with the utmost of power at engine temperatures cannot at the same time have quick-starting ability in a cold motor.

Heretofore you have had to choose which kind of gasoline you would use. Now you can have "balanced" Pennant gasoline, made by a process which assures you of the easiest starting and the greatest power that it is possible to combine in one gasoline!

It starts quickly—warms up fast—accelerates wonderfully—pulls all day long at high efficiency! It has all the desirable qualities in the largest proportions that have ever been combined in a single fuel. A tank full of the new Pennant gasoline will tell its own story in your motor.

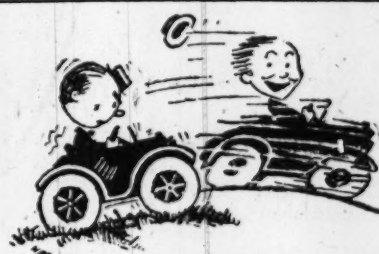

How Pennant Gasoline is "Balanced"

The idea of "balancing" gasoline is not so hard to understand. Let's compare it with iced tea. Suppose you had a cup of tea just off the fire. It is both strong and hot but you do not want it hot, so you pour it into a glass of ice. What happens? You get the cold you want, but the melting ice dilutes the tea and it is no longer strong enough. So you have gained one characteristic at the cost of another.

In a way, that explains what you have often noticed about gasoline. If you seek for excessive starting quality you sacrifice power. If you have a powerful gasoline it is sluggish in starting.

All housewives know the trick of having iced tea and still keeping it strong enough. The Pierce Pennant refineries have learned the way to combine the quickest starting quality with the greatest power quality that can be put together in one gasoline.

Because Pennant is "balanced" gasoline, it gives power on the hills, economy for long running and satisfactory performance at all times.

When you have tried the new Pennant you will wonder why this combination of qualities has not been made available before!

Pennant Motor Oil also is "Balanced"

Until now you have had to choose a light oil for easy starting, and sacrifice the "body" which is so necessary to safe lubrication in a hot motor; or you have had to choose a heavy oil for its "body" and sacrifice quick-flowing qualities at starting temperatures.

The Pennant process "balances" motor oil as well as gasoline. The new Pennant Motor Oil flows readily at starting temperatures, yet retains its body and its ability to lubricate safely, even on long runs and for great mileage.

Pennant Quality at Regular Price

You will say when you have tried these new Pennant products that the better performance in your car makes them worth a premium price; yet they are sold at regular price wherever you see the Pennant. Why pay more?

Drive in today for a crankcase change and a full tank of new Pennant gasoline. Your miles will cost less. Your car will run better. You will be exercising the truest economy. Have You Tried the New Pennant Gasoline?

SAYS CAPACITY TO PAY IS BEST DEBT FORMULA

Princeton Professor Declares Open-Mindedness of Allies Brought Reduction.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 17.—"Capacity to pay" was upheld as the most reasonable and fairest formula whereby to gauge the ability of debtors to meet their obligations to the United States by Dr. Philip Marshall Brown, professor of international law at Princeton University, who spoke at the general conference of the Institute of Politics.

Dr. Brown praised England, Belgium and Italy for their open-mindedness in approaching the debt discussion and made it clear that, because of their attitude, the United States was moved to hold down their debts to us by approximately 50 per cent.

"We lent Great Britain $4,711,181,915," he said, "and we reduced this obligation in the debt funding settlement by $1,414,233,915, or 17 per cent. We lent Belgium $483,428,000, and we reduced this amount by $291,642,745, or 46 per cent. This amounted to a sum which exceeds Belgium's pre-armistice debt by $119,862,765.34. Praises Italy's Stand.

"We lent Italy $1,150,150,000 and we reduced this amount by $1,733,683,533.66, or 75 per cent. We lent France $4,230,727,000, and we reduced this amount by $2,549,021,313.11, or 52 per cent. This sum exceeds the principal of France's pre-armistice debt by $679,021,313.11."

Dr. Brown said "the candid and loyal manner in which Italy laid everything on the table and asked us to judge for ourselves of her capacity to pay left a deep impression on Americans."

"It is most painful, however," he continued, "to confess in all friendly candor, that when France sent a mission in 1922 to expose her inability and disinclination to meet her obligations we were quite unable to understand a language so entirely foreign to Anglo-Saxon principles and methods."

Dr. George Winfield Scott, formerly professor of international law at Columbia University, endorsed Dr. Brown's stand, and added that the problem today is "how best to control the great human forces of Europe in the interest of prolonged peace."

Peabody Takes Opposite Stand.
Frederick W. Peabody, managing director of the American Association Favoring the Revision of Inter-Allied Debts, took the opposite stand. He argued that the loans were made for our benefit "for the persecution of our war. That, not being a commercial investment, the money should not be treated as such. That against our money contribution to our allies should be set the cost to our allies in blood, while our fighting for the 15 months of our war period when our armies were inactive on the battle front."

Peabody adduced figures collected by E. H. Outerbridge, formerly president of the New York State Chamber of Commerce, showing that in order to pay us $250,000,000 a year for 62 years our allies would have to resort to impossible measures.

"They would have to produce a profit," he said, "of at least 5 per cent upon the annual production of $7,000,000,000 worth of goods, or $434,000,000,000 in 62 years."

COOLIDGE'S ESTIMATE OF BATTLE OF BENNINGTON
Calls It More Decisive Than Any Single Engagement in the World War.

By the Associated Press.
BENNINGTON, Vt., Aug. 17.—A letter from President Coolidge in which he said that "no single engagement of the World War was more far-reaching in its effect" than the Battle of Bennington, was read at the closing exercises of the 150th anniversary celebration of the battle.

Writing to John Spargo, president of the Vermont Sesqui-Centennial Commission, the President said:
"To a generation only just emerging from a struggle which involved millions of men and resources almost beyond comprehension, it is perhaps difficult to comprehend how decisive this battle was. . . . Upon this one battle rested the fate of Burgoyne's army and probably of the revolution. . . . And while we pay just tribute to the brave and courage which turned back in disaster an invading force, let us remember that here was exemplified as well that higher courage, that finer bravery which lays aside all thought of selfish advantage or of sectional interest when American ideals are in peril or our institutions threatened. It is this spirit of self-sacrificing devotion to the common good which has made our country great today and upon which our future must depend."

RATE CUT ON COAL SHIPMENT TO LAKE REGION SUSPENDED

Reduction of 20 Cents a Ton Ordered by I. C. C. Met With Opposition in North.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—A proposed cut of 20 cents a ton, advanced by the railroads to the Great Lakes from the West Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky and Virginia coal fields, was ordered suspended until March 23 next by the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday, with hearings scheduled to take place in the meanwhile. The carriers, which included the Norfolk & Western, the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Louisville & Nashville railroads, had intended that the reduction become effective Aug. 23.

The rate cut sought to equalize shipping prices from southern and northern coal fields. In June, the northern operators were successful in obtaining a 20 cent reduction, effective Aug. 19, the commission holding that a similar cut in rates from the south would not be justified.

Southern operators, nevertheless, sought a reduction and after conferences with railroads executives, the proposed cut was announced, meeting vigorous protest from the northern fields. The lake ports furnish an outlet for 30,000,000 tons of coal annually.

300 Passengers Safe in Ferry Crash

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 17.—Excitement among 300 passengers on the Detroit to Windsor Ferry Britannia resulted last night when the boat was rammed by the lake freighter James E. Ferris in the Detroit river here. A score of passenger boats came to the assistance of the disabled ferry and the combined crews succeeded in safely removing the passengers. The Britannia, which was struck above the water line on the port side, was able to reach Windsor under her own steam. The James E. Ferris was not damaged. A misinterpretation of signals is believed to have been responsible for the collision.

ANALYSIS OF ITEMS IN TERMINAL VALUATION

I. C. C. and Association Not Actually Far Apart as in Their Figures.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
20-22 Wyatt Building.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The
tentative valuation of $30,430,903,
for rate-making purposes placed by the Interstate Commerce Commission on property of the St. Louis Terminal Railroad Association, as of June 30, 1913, and the association's claim of $54,014,751 balance sheet for a date six months later, are not so far apart, the commission's report discloses. In fact, the commission gave the association a general balance sheet of $54,464,502.99 for the valuation
date.

The itemized report shows that differences of opinion between the commission and the association are more matters of bookkeeping than matters of value. The differences will be thrashed out after the association files its exceptions to the tentative report. This protest must be filed within the next 30 days.

Details of Valuation.
On the valuation date, the association gave a book value of $20,778,230.37 to its road and equipment, including land. Through readjustment by accounting methods, the commission reduced this amount to $18,161,678.91. The association placed a value of $6,581-579.66 on leased property. The commission readjusted this to $5-984,876.88.

The commission tentatively valued the carrier property owned and used by the association at $18,656-880, and the property used but not owned at $11,774,023. The commission stated that it had found that the association had non-carrier land valued at $1,585,448.85,
and non-carrier securities with a book value of $16,181,739.32. It is to be supposed that these items would be included in a general balance sheet.

Figures on Bridge Co.
The report does not show definitely what rate making value the commission placed on Eads Bridge.
In the section devoted to used but not owned lands and equipment
the report gave a rate making value of $2,704,449 to the St. Louis Bridge Co., the corporate name
under which the terminal holds Eads Bridge.

The report stated that the bridge company claimed a book value of $13,298,691.91, and that the annual rental in 1917 was equal to interest on the outstanding securities and cost of maintenance, taxes and insurance. Readjustments should bring this book value down to $10-789,691.91, the report added.

The reproduction new cost of the bridge company's property—presumably the carrier portion of the bridge—would be $2,746,866, the report stated. "The present value of the non-carrier structures or non-carrier land, consisting principally of the highway structure of the bridge across the Mississippi, is $504,720," it said.

Awaiting Terminal's Protest.
The real differences of opinion between the commission and the association cannot be known until the association files its protests against specific items in the commission's report. The Eads Bridge item may come in for criticism, but in view of the high financing that centered around this bridge, it is hardly likely that the commission will value it for rate-making purposes at anything near the par value of the securities issued to pay for it.

Perspiration odor is so unpardonable

Why risk it—when it's so easy to be safe?

ALL of us need to be on our guard against perspiration odor, just to be sure—absolutely sure—that we never offend.
For though we notice it quick as a flash
in others, we ourselves may often be guilty
—without realizing it!

Perspiration odor is a year round problem. Even on cool days, when we don't seem to perspire at all, science proves that the pores give off quantities of odor-causing moisture.

But it's easy to avoid perspiration odor now. Just use Lifebuoy. Lifebuoy is so refreshing that millions bathe with it every day. It purifies pores—gives lasting freedom from embarrassing odor.

Those suffering from odor due to under-arm perspiration or perspiring feet will especially welcome the purifying action of Lifebuoy's antiseptic lather.

TWO MURDERERS SHOOT WAY OUT OF PITTSBURG JAIL
Visitor Holds Up Officers—
Hands Convicts Pistols
With Which They Wound
Two Guards
FLEE IN AUTO WAITING FOR THEM
One Fugitive Is Payroll Car
Dynamiter, Other Killed
Man Who Wouldn't Lend
Him 25 Cents.
By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURG, Aug. 15.—Two convicted murderers shot their way to freedom from the Allegheny County jail in the downtown district today.
As the men neared the entrance of the jail, after obtaining keys
from a bookkeeper, they wounded
two guards.
The convicts who escaped, Paul Jaworski, a well-known figure in the "Flathead Mob," notorious mine payroll holdup gang, and John Vashinder, convicted of having murdered Steve Yelich in Mc-Keesport, Pa., when his request for a quarter was refused. Both were awaiting execution in the electric chair.
Visitor Holds Up Guards.
Early in the afternoon an unidentified visitor called on Jaworski. As they talked, separated by an iron grill, Vashinder stood near by.
Suddenly the visitor drew two pistols and covered the prison office force and guards. He tossed other pistols to Vashinder and Jaworski.
The latter immediately opened fire,
wounding John Hamilton and Harry Rieger, guards. Each was shot in the arm.
Then the convicts and their companion dashed to the main gate they met a woman visitor. They brushed her aside and fired at the door guard. The woman fainted. Other guards, attracted by the shooting, rushed to the gate. By the time they arrived Jaworski had opened the iron-barred door with keys taken from Belawinger and were outside. As they reached the street their colporteur, a pistol in each hand, continued firing to cover their retreat.
The shooting continued until the convicts and their companion rounded a corner, entered an automobile and drove away.
A number of pedestrians and employees in the courthouse across the street from the jail witnessed the break and the exchange of shots with the guards. They said the two convicts came from the jail door with smoking pistols in their hands.
The convicts, before reaching the main door, forced Paul Belawinger,
a bookkeeper, to turn over his keys with which they opened the locked doors.
Few escapes have been made from the jail. The most daring previous break for freedom was in 1902 when the notorious Biddle boys fled from the prison with a warden's wife only to be shot down.
Police Reserves Called Out.
Fearing that other prisoners were in the plot, the city police department rushed reserves,
armed with riot guns, to the jail.
Re-enforcing the prison guards, the reserves searched the place for other weapons.
Jaworski took part in the Coversdale payroll holdup when an armored car was blown off the road by a mine. He confessed that he killed J. L. Cump, a coal payroll guard during a holdup at Hennauer, when the gang got away with $48,000. When Jaworski confessed, he called himself a "stealer" and asked that he be sent to the chair. He was convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to be electrocuted. He was in the county jail pending disposition of a motion for a new trial, filed against his wishes by his attorney.
ROBBER ESCAPE WITH $10,000 IN MICHIGAN BANK HOLDUP
By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Aug. 15.—Absence of the regular guard at the Ecorse State Bank enabled two Negroes to hold up two employees and escape
with approximately $10,000 today.
The robbers fled in a car driven by a third Negro.
Miss Viola Labadie and C. R.
Mead, bookkeepers, were bound, as were two customers, a man and a woman, who walked into the building during the holdup.
